CLASH OF VIEWPOINT — Jerry Wurf, international president of a striking municipal employees union, has some harsh words for Lansing, Mich., police Sgt. OSP Recruitment Drive Scheduled Here Saturday

The Ohio State Highway Patrol's recruitment trailer will be in Circleville from 8 a. m. until 5 p. m. Saturday to accept applications from young men who wish to join the patrol.

Sgt. J. W. Pribble, commander of the local post, said men who apply now will be called for 14 weeks of training at the Patrol's new Academy in Columbus beginning Sept. 14.

After graduation from the Academy, cadets may expect immediate appointment. When possible, they will be assigned to the patrol post nearest their county of residence.

Basic requirements for a patrolman are: 21 to 30 years of age, 5-feet 9-inches to 6-feet-4-inches in height, a minimum weight of 160 pounds, high school education and good physical condition.

AS A FURTHER note, Sgt. Pribble said applications are now being accepted from qualified out-of-state residents. Col. Robert M. Chiaramonte, superintendent of the OSP, is waiving the residency requirements now because of the Patrol's critical need for new men to bring it to authorized strength.

Starting pay for a patrolman is $5,520 annually. As a patrolman, young men can earn up to $6,600. The pay scale for corporals ranges from $6,300 to $7,560 and for sergeants from $6,900 to $8,280.

First sergeants start at $7,200 and can earn as much as $8,640. Top pay scale for lieutenants is $9,420; for captains, $10,320; for majors $11,280; for lieutenant colonels, $12,240 and for the superintendent $13,200. Cadets receive $330 a month while in training.

In addition to the salary, benefits offered include an excellent pension plan, Sgt. Pribble noted. A patrol veteran can retire at the age of 52.

Uniforms and uniform maintenance is furnished by the patrolman. They receive two weeks vacation after one year, three weeks after 10 years and four weeks after 25 years. They work a 40-hour week.

Considered one of the best police training facilities in the nation, the academy building houses a dormitory for 100 men, three classrooms, a library, gymnasium, indoor pool, indoor range, cafeteria and lounge.

Academy courses include highway patrol and academy procedures, accident investigation and enforcement, police techniques and procedures, criminal investigation, law, evidence and criminal procedure fire arms.

U.S. Terminology On Fliers Changed

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The U.S. military command today changed its terminology for pilots held in North Viet Nam in an apparent move to discredit Hanoi's efforts to label them war criminals.

Pilots and other military prisoners will be officially listed as "captured or interned," the command said. For more than a year they have been listed as "detained."

Gemini Crew To Complete Flight Today

Return To Climax Most Significant Space Venture Yet

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—One of man's most exciting and significant space adventures reaches a blazing climax late today when the Gemini 10 astronauts make a meteoric dive back through the atmosphere, bringing home a bundle of records.

Command pilot John W. Young, a Navy Commander, and space-walker Michael Collins, an Air Force major, planned to trigger the retro-rockets on their fuel-short spacecraft at 3:31 p.m. EST to start a fiery descent. The landing in the Atlantic about 550 miles east southeast of Cape Kennedy was timed for 4:07 p.m.

A recovery force of ships and planes headed by the helicopter aircraft carrier Guadalcanal was stationed in the planned landing zone where weather conditions were reported good.

Until the re-entry, the astronauts were to drift through space, conserving their precious remaining fuel and conducting whatever photographic and scientific experiments they could.

They were ready to come home after three days aloft. In that period they had had the hatch open three times—twice for Collins' business outside and once to jettison items no longer needed.

Discussing that Wednesday night, Young commented: "We'd like to try for five—on the water. One on the left side, one on the right—no more, thank you."

Despite problems that forced Collins to cut short two space excursions, the flight of Gemini 10 was rated one of the best U.S. man-in-space trips yet.

"This mission is one of the most rewarding we've ever flown," commented Flight Director Glynn Lunney.

"John and Mike performed magnificently."

Lunney said Gemini 10 proved the feasibility of rendezvous with both an active and a passive satellite—the Agena 10 and the Agena 8; that man can survive outside a spacecraft, and that a manned satellite can dock with a fuel tanker in space for long periods and use its engine for maneuvering.

Navy Cmdr. Alan L. Bean, a Gemini 10 backup pilot, told newsmen the rendezvous with the lifeless Agena 8 was the most significant achievement.

"A year ago," Bean said, "we thought it was impossible to rendezvous with something that had been up there for four months—with no radar beacon or lights. That one thing alone gives us an impact of what has been done on Gemini 10. It was tremendous."

Young, who had been a rather untalkative astronaut during his first two days in space, expressed his exuberance when he closed to within a few feet of Agena 8.

Secret of Flight Solved -- Almost

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Got a minute? Well, spend it contemplating the discoveries of Victor M. Gonzalez, 42, who spent a decade thinking and doing in the dusty attic of the aerospace age.

His study of flight started simply enough. He stood in the middle of the Mojave Desert, two 15-foot fiberglass wings strapped to his arms.

He flapped.

Nothing happened.

After the Mojave disappointment, Gonzalez returned to his

Los Angeles home. "I studied birds, butterflies, bees, grasshoppers. I even studied flying fish."

He bought 25 pigeons and clipped their wings in different designs. He removed all the feathers from some birds' wings, replacing them with cloth cut in a bat-wing effect.

Separately, he began work on his aluminum-frame "ornithopter" two wings mounted on a sulky-type carriage driven by bicycle pedals and chain.

"Then, three years ago,"

Gonzalez says, "I saw it for the first time. The secret of flight." His 5-foot-3, 110-pound body was stretched on his lawn as he watched a bird.

"I noticed a bird's body moved up and down while the tips of its wings stayed in the same plane. That was it."

"Birds don't flap their wings. That's an optical illusion. Their bodies move up and down."

He incorporated appropriate changes into his ornithopter, lengthened the wings to a 42-foot span, and added a propeller.

Back to the Mojave. A gust of wind collapsed the wings. Back to the shop. Repairs. Back to the desert. He forgot to put a pin in a drive wheel. The gears stripped. He never left the sand.

"I think I accomplished what I set out to do. I have discovered the principle of wing-flapping flight."

With that, Gonzalez gave the machine and plans to the University of California at Los Angeles and turned to other pursuits, poetry and the guitar.

Once Around Roundtown

WITH George Van Camp in the sulky, Miss Caleb Van won both heats of a stake race at the Jackson County Fair Wednesday night to capture the winner's share of a $2,250 purse.

Miss Caleb Van, last Saturday won the 2-year-old trotting division of the Scioto Downs Challenge Stakes.

Van Camp sat in for regular driver Jim Mace at Jackson. Miss Caleb Van is owned by Van Camp Stables of Circleville.

NORTH AMERICAN Aviation of Columbus is searching for piece of an airplane.

The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department Wednesday afternoon received a call from the aviation manufacturing firm reporting the loss of an airplane part measuring 40 inches in length, four in width and two thick. It is painted green on one side and red on the other.

The Sheriff's Department was told the piece was lost in an area southeast of Circleville. Anyone finding an object matching the description is requested to notify the sheriff's department promptly.

PEOPLE go to drive-in restaurants in all kinds of vehicles. But one of Roundtown's newest drive-in eating facilities claims some kind of a record.

A Norfolk and Western switch engine today halted along side the Burger Chef on W. Main St. Two men disembarked from the locomotive and entered the building to eat lunch.

French Test A-Bomb For Safety Measures

PARIS (AP)—A French atomic bomb was dropped without exploding on Mururoa Island in the Pacific today in a test of the bomb's safety devices.

The French Defense Ministry said the test was to verify the safety of operational nuclear arms "during their stockpiling and transport." It termed the test successful.

Red Viet AA Guns Down 3 More U.S. Warplanes

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—North Viet Nam's anti-aircraft defenses shot down three more U.S. Air Force planes—one a radar ship packed with electronic detection and jamming gear—as American pilots ran through another barrage of missiles and sighted more Communist MIGs, the U.S. military command announced today.

The twin-jet RB66 reconnaissance plane with a crew of six was the second of its type reported lost in the war. The other planes brought down in raids Wednesday were both single-seat F105 Thunderchief fighters, bringing the announced toll of American aircraft over the Communist North to 298.

All eight airmen were listed as missing.

The North Vietnamese fired off nine Soviet-built surface-to-air missiles and American pilots sighted six Communist jet fighters, the U.S. command said. There was no report of any clashes with the enemy planes.

Under the U.S. command's usual reporting policy, there was no announcement whether the planes were lost to missiles or conventional ground fire.

The RB66 was hit about 70 miles north-northwest of Hanoi, while one of the Thunderchiefs went down on a strike 60 miles north-northeast of Hanoi, a U.S. spokesman said.

The location of the other loss was not immediately announced.

Seven American planes have been reported shot down in North Viet Nam this week. On Tuesday, a missile knocked down one U.S. plane and a MIG17 got another. American jets encountered a record barrage of 29 SAMs.

U.S. Combat casualties declined sharply last week, a military spokesman announced. He said 65 Americans were killed, 368 wounded and none were missing in action in the week of July 10-16, compared with 110 killed, 620 wounded and seven missing the previous seven days.

The casualties brought the number of Americans killed this year to an unofficial toll of 2,456 and to 4,304 since the beginning of U.S. involvement in the war on Jan. 1, 1961.

U.S. Marines combing the jungled mountains just south of the border reported killing 49 more North Vietnamese troops Wednesday to raise the enemy toll to 425 since 7,000 Leathernecks and 3,000 South Vietnamese soldiers began Operation Hastings last Friday. The Communists were killed in small scattered engagements.

The Reds broke off contact before dawn, but U.S. Air Force B52s roared in from Guam several hours later to pound Communist infiltration routes near the Marine operation 40 miles west of Quang Tri City.

The House has jolted President Johnson's budget by adding $952 million to the biggest defense appropriation bill since World War II.

The $58.6-billion measure cleared the House Wednesday by a 393-1 vote. The lone dissenter was Rep. George E. Brown Jr., D-Calif., an opponent of Viet Nam policy.

The House action came only a day after President Johnson complained that Congress was approving more spending than he asked.

The Senate has not acted on the bill—the first of two measures to finance the nation's fighting forces for the fiscal year ending next June 30.

A supplemental bill expected to be in the neighborhood of $10 billion is due next January.

After the final vote, House Republican League Gerald R. Ford of Michigan challenged the President to veto nondefense bills that exceed his budget or to freeze funds provided for domestic programs.

Accused Slayer Sees Lawyer

Nurse Massacre Charge Is Filed

CHICAGO (AP)—Richard Speck, who is accused of slaughtering eight student nurses, was formally charged with murder Wednesday and conferred with his lawyer and a minister.

The Rev. David Peterson, 30, a Lutheran minister, spent 20 minutes with Speck in the City Jail Hospital and told newsmen: "He is concerned about his relationship with God. I think that primarily was the reason he saw me. It was a very personal conversation."

The Rev. Mr. Peterson, pastor of the Irving Park Lutheran Church of Chicago, said Speck asked him to visit again today. The minister said he would if jail authorities agree.

Speck, an itinerant seaman with a long arrest record in Dallas, Tex., was formally charged with murder and the hearing was continued to July 28.

The call for a minister was the first request made by Speck since he was carried into the Cook County Hospital emergency room early Sunday, bleeding from self-inflicted slashes to his arms and reeking from alcohol.

He was later transferred to the City Jail Hospital.

Speck, 24, had been named by Police Supt. O. W. Wilson Saturday as the person who methodically took the eight nurses, one-by-one, into rooms of their townhouse residence and slashed or strangled them.

Speck asked his attorney in their first meeting Wednesday to summon a minister.

The Rev. Mr. Peterson said nothing was mentioned about the nurses. He said Speck appeared under stress, but looked well.

Speck's attorney, Public Defender Gerald W. Getty, spent three or four minutes in the hospital room with Speck.

"I advised him of his rights," Getty said. "I also informed him who I was and asked if he wanted me to represent him. He said he did. I informed him his brother and his brother-in-law were outside and asked him if he wanted to see them. He said he did not."

Speck's brother, Howard, Speck of Monmouth, Ill., and his brother-in-law, Eugene Thornett of Chicago, went to the hospital with Getty.

Getty, 53, has never had a client sentenced to death in 402 murder cases and has won acquittals in his last 14 cases before juries.

Soviets Accuse U.S. Diplomat

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Youth newspaper accused a U.S. diplomat today of spreading anti-Soviet feeling among foreign students in Moscow and gathering intelligence.

Komsomolskaya Pravda called Alan Logan, second secretary of the U.S. Embassy, "an open enemy of our country."

The paper said Logan "is deeply mistaken if he thinks he can get away with it. We think the authorities have all grounds to examine more closely the activity of the second secretary."

A cultural attaché at the U.S. embassy, Norris D. Garnett, was ordered out of the Soviet Union on May 11, 1965, similar accusations were made against him.

Cleveland Mother, Baby Are Injured

Troopers, Police Join To Quell Racial Outburst

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Police and National Guardsmen opened fire on a car early today, wounding a 16-year-old Negro mother and her two small children at the scene of a fire.

The blazing guns injured five persons, including a National Guard captain hit by a ricocheting bullet.

One of the wounded was a 7-month-old baby. The shooting started when the driver refused to get out of the car and tried to speed off, a guard spokesman said.

The gunfire climaxed a night of widely scattered firebombings and vandalism—sporadic disorders following the rioting Monday and Tuesday night that left two Negroes shot to death.

Wounded seriously were Christopher Green, 4, shot in the back of the head, and his mother, Mrs. Diane Towns, 16, hit in the face and shoulder. The boy was in surgery.

The hospital reported another child, Emmanuel Towns, 7 months, nicked on the neck and only slightly hurt. The hospital listed the young woman as the mother of both children.

Shot in the right leg was Ernest Williams, 12, brother of Mrs. Towns.

A ricochet wounded Capt. James Fletcher, a National Guard officer. He was hit in the right leg.

A National Guard spokesman said the shooting started after the car first was stopped by police and the driver got out, then jumped back in and tried to cross the fire line a second time.

The homicide unit at police headquarters said the incident still was under investigation and no information would be released immediately.

A newsman at the scene told of officers trying to get the driver from the car and gave this account:

The driver clung to the wheel. "You bastards leave me alone!" he growled, cursing the officer. More policemen and

Meatcutter's Hands Now Electronic

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP)—Joseph Weisz slowly opened and closed his electronic hands, then told his fellow meatcutters "I'm going to make these hands do as much as any normal hands do."

The stocky, 47-year-old Romanian native lost both hands last Nov. 18 when he tried to free a piece of meat stuck in a steel meat press. He had returned in March after doctors fitted him with hooklike devices.

Then a fellow employee gave Seisz a New York newspaper story about the electronic hands. He entered the Montreal Institute of Rehabilitation, the nearest place where the hands, made in Russia, are available. He returned to his job as a meat cutting supervisor Wednesday.

The hands are made of plastic and are operated by a small motor attached to arm transistors. Movement of the arm muscles sets off the mechanism, which is powered by batteries hooked to a belt.

Vandals Desecrate 250-Year-Old Cemetery

NORTHPORT, N.Y. (AP)—A 250-year-old cemetery in this Long Island town was invaded by vandals who smashed stained glass windows in two mausoleums, scattered ashes and fled, leaving empty beer cans around the vaults.

Police chased the vandals from the Northport rural cemetery Wednesday but could not catch them.

Police said the invaders propped a skeleton from one vault on a window sill beneath the broken stained glass.

U.S. Rated As Top Space Litterbug

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—America's many achievements in space include the distinction of being the world's foremost celestial litterbug.

A thermal glove, an exposed roll of color movie film and an expensive 70mm camera are now earth satellites as a result of mishaps while astronauts were outside their spaceships.

In addition, there is a collection of other orbiting junk discarded intentionally by astronauts to save the trouble of stowing.

Gemini 10 pilots John W. Young and Michael Collins threw away about 14 items Wednesday as they prepared their cabin for reentry.

Most of these went into the bag that had contained the life-line Collins used for his walk in space. What didn't go into the bag was just tossed out the hatch, like the life-line itself.

The pilots, cramped for space among all the loose gear, were especially happy to see the life-line go. When Mission Control asked about it, Collins replied, "Gone, thank God."

Collins lost two objects during his half hour outside Gemini 10. One of these was the 70mm camera, another was a small experiment package he was to attach to the Agena 8.

6 Men Injured Fighting Oil Fire

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Six men, including five firemen, were injured late Wednesday night in an explosion and fire at a service station in suburban Whitehall.

In fair condition in St. Anthony Hospital, was James Parrish, owner of the station who suffered the most seriously injured. He was undergoing treatment for face, arm and leg burns.

The firemen were injured when a wall of the station collapsed as they fought the flames.

Firemen said the explosion apparent started in an oil storage room just as Parrish was leaving the station.

OSP Recruitment Drive Scheduled Here Saturday

The Ohio State Highway Patrol's recruitment trailer will be in Circleville from 8 a. m. until 5 p. m. Saturday to accept applications from young men who wish to join the patrol.

Sgt. J. W. Pribble, commander of the local post, said men who apply now will be called for 14 weeks of training at the Patrol's new Academy in Columbus beginning Sept. 14.

After graduation from the Academy, cadets may expect immediate appointment. When possible, they will be assigned to the patrol post nearest their county of residence.

Basic requirements for a patrolman are: 21 to 30 years of age, 5-feet 9-inches to 6-feet-4-

Red Viet AA Guns Down 3 More U.S. Warplanes

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — North Viet Nam's anti-aircraft defenses shot down three more U.S. Air Force planes — one a radar ship packed with electronic detection and jamming gear — as American pilots ran through another barrage of missiles and sighted more Communist MIGs, the U.S. military command announced today.

The twin-jet RB-66 reconnaissance plane with a crew of six was the second of its type reported lost in the war. The other planes brought down in raids Wednesday were both single-seat F105 Thunderchief fighters, bringing the announced toll of American air craft over the Communist North to 298.

All eight airmen were listed as missing.

The North Vietnamese fired off nine Soviet-built surface-to-air missiles and American pilots sighted six Communist jet fighters, the U.S. command said. There was no report of any clashes with the enemy planes.

Under the U.S. command's usual reporting policy, there was no announcement whether the planes were lost to missiles or conventional ground fire.

The RB-66 was hit about 70 miles north-northwest of Hanoi, while one of the Thunderchiefs went down on a strike 60 miles north-northeast of Hanoi, a U.S. spokesman said.

The location of the other loss was not immediately announced.

Seven American planes have been reported shot down in North Viet Nam this week. On Tuesday, a missile knocked down one U.S. plane and a MIG17 got another. American jets encountered a record barrage of 29 SAMs.

U.S. Combat casualties declined sharply last week, a military spokesman announced. He said 65 Americans were killed, 368 wounded and none were missing in action in the week of July 10-16, compared with 110 killed, 620 wounded and seven missing the previous seven days.

The casualties brought the number of Americans killed this year to an unofficial toll of 2,456 and to 4,304 since the beginning of U.S. involvement in the war on Jan. 1, 1961.

U. S. Marines combing the jungled mountains just south of the border reported killing 49 more North Vietnamese troops Wednesday to raise the enemy toll to 425 since 7,000 Leathernecks and 3,000-South Vietnamese soldiers began Operation Hastings last Friday. The Communists were killed in small scattered engagements.

The Reds broke off contact before dawn, but U. S. Air Force B-52s roared in from Guam several hours later to pound Communist infiltration routes near the Marine operation 40 miles west of Quang Tri City.

The union's walkout threat defied Johnson's plea for round-the-clock negotiations until a settlement is reached.

Johnson's only alternative appeared to be to call the negotiators into the White House for marathon sessions as he successfully did not settle stale-mated steel and railroad talks in the past.

"We have no legal remedies left to us in the government," Johnson said at his news conference Wednesday.

Meanwhile, he said, "We shall persist."

Johnson also had a new figure on the effectiveness of American air raids against oil storage facilities near Hanoi and Haiphong. Warplanes hit 90 per cent of the total storage capacity, he reported, "and almost 70 per cent of it was destroyed."

Asked about dealings with Communist China, Johnson declined to go beyond a speech last week in which he called for expanded exchanges between the two countries as a start toward better understanding.

"I think until we can have more understanding of what China's plans are, and what China expects to do in her own way in the future," he said, "we would not want to determine our complete course of conduct."

The blazing guns injured five persons, including a National Guard captain hit by a ricocheting bullet.

One of the wounded was a 7-month-old baby. The shooting started when the driver refused to get out of the car and tried to speed off, a guard spokesman said.

The gunfire climaxed a night of widely scattered firebombings and vandalism — sporadic disorders following the rioting Monday and Tuesday night that left two Negroes shot to death.

Wounded seriously were Christopher Green, 4, shot in the back of the head, and his mother, Mrs. Diane Towns, 16, hit in the face and shoulder. The boy was in surgery.

The hospital reported another child, Emmanuel Towns, 7 months, nicked on the neck and only slightly hurt. The hospital listed the young woman as the mother of both children.

Shot in the right leg was Ernest Williams, 12, brother of Mrs. Towns.

A ricochet wounded Capt. James Pletcher, a National Guard officer. He was hit in the right leg.

A National Guard spokesman said the shooting started after the car first was stopped by police and the driver got out, then jumped back in and tried to cross the fire line a second time.

The homicide unit at police headquarters said the incident still was under investigation and no information would be released immediately.

A newsmen at the scene told of officers trying to get the driver from the car and gave this account:

"The driver clung to the wheel. 'You bastards leave me alone!' he growled, cursing the officer. More policemen and (Continued on Page 2)

Meatcutter's Hands Now Electronic

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — Joseph Weiss slowly opened and closed his electronic hands, then told his fellow meatcutters "I'm going to make these hands do as much as any normal hands do."

The stocky, 47-year-old Romanian native lost both hands last Nov. 18 when he tried to free a piece of meat stuck in a steel meat press. He had returned in March after doctors fitted him with hooklike devices.

Then a fellow employee gave Seiz a New York newspaper story about the electronic hands. He entered the Montreal Institute of Rehabilitation, the nearest place where the hands, made in Russia, are available. He returned to his job as a meat cutting supervisor Wednesday.

The hands are made of plastic and are operated by a small motor attached to arm transistors. Movement of the arm muscles sets off the mechanism, which is powered by batteries hooked to a belt.

Vandals Desecrate 250-Year-Old Cemetery

NORTHPORT, N.Y. (AP) — A 250-year-old cemetery in this Long Island town was invaded by vandals who smashed stained glass windows in two mausoleums, scattered ashes and fled, leaving empty beer cans around the vaults.

Police chased the vandals from the Northport rural cemetery Wednesday but could not catch them.

Police said the invaders propped a skeleton from one vault on a window sill beneath the broken stained glass.

U.S. Rated As Top Space Litterbug

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — America's many achievements in space include the distinction of being the world's foremost celestial litterbug.

A thermal glove, an exposed roll of color movie film and an expensive 70mm camera are now earth satellites as a result of mishaps while astronauts were outside their spaceships.

In addition, there is a collection of other orbiting junk discarded intentionally by astronauts to save the trouble of stowing.

Gemini 10 pilots John W. Young and Michael Collins threw away about 14 items Wednesday as they prepared their cabin for re-entry.

Most of these went into the bag that had contained the life-line Collins used for his walk in space. What didn't go into the bag was just tossed out the hatch, like the life-line itself.

The pilots, cramped for space among all the loose gear, were especially happy to see the life-line go. When Mission Control asked about it, Collins replied, "Gone, thank God."

Collins lost two objects during his half hour outside Gemini 10. One of these was the 70mm camera, another was a small experiment package he was to attach to the Agena 8.

6 Men Injured Fighting Oil Fire

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Six men, including five firemen, were injured late Wednesday night in an explosion and fire at a service station in suburban Whitehall.

In fair condition in St. Anthony Hospital, was James Parrish, owner of the station who suffered the most serious injury. He was undergoing treatment for face, arm and leg burns.

The firemen were injured when a wall of the station collapsed as they fought the flames.

Firemen said the explosion appeared started in an oil storage room just as Parrish was leaving the station.

Bike-Car Crash Injures 2 Youths

Two teen-age youths suffered multiple injuries at 2:50 p.m. Wednesday when an automobile skidded through the intersection at the Circleville-Commercial Point Road and Route 316, and crashed into the bicycles they were riding.

Taken to Berger Hospital were Donald R. Partlow Jr., 14, and Neal Cecil Lemaster, 15. Both reside at Route 2, Ashville.

Partlow suffered a fracture of the right leg and multiple lacerations and abrasions. Lemaster was treated for a fractured finger, lacerations and abrasions.

The youngsters were treated by Berger Hospital Emergency personnel and released. The investigating officer reported it was "miraculous the boys were not more seriously injured."

his car skidded across Route 316. Wolford said the vehicle struck the Lemaster bicycle in the rear wheel, throwing the youth clear of the car.

Young Partlow's bike was struck squarely by the car, the deputy reported. He said the youth was carried on the front of the car across a ditch and through a fence.

Municipal Judge Sterling M. Lamb today fined Lee $50 and costs, the maximum amount for the offense charged.

In addition, he ordered Lee to pay all hospital and doctor costs and to replace the two bicycles. The driver had no liability insurance, according to Wolford.

Stock Mart Rally Fails

NEW YORK (AP)—A feeble attempt to rally was a failure and the stock market headed lower early this afternoon in light trading.

Smart recoveries by some of the glamor stocks featured early trading but there was no follow through and the gains of these issues were soon wiped out.

Prominent in this disappointing performance was Xerox, which had fallen 24 1/2 points in the previous two sessions. Xerox recovered more than 2 points in early trading but quickly backtracked from the advance and showed a further net loss approaching 5 points.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .4 at 314.5 with industrials off .6, rails off .2, and utilities off .3. The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 1.94 at 872.55.

Two Baseballers Get Treatment

The Emergency Room staff at Berger Hospital treated and released six persons Wednesday for various injuries. Two of the patients were young baseballers.

John Simison Jr., 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Simison Sr., 117 Town St., suffered leg injuries when struck by a baseball at Ted Lewis Park.

Rickey Jacobs, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville C. Jacobs, 164 Watt St., suffered mouth injuries when a ball struck him while he was playing at the Fairgrounds.

Ada Conrad, 49, Route 4, was treated for lacerations to her thumb, suffered while working at the hospital.

Donald Ray Partlow, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Partlow, Ashville, was treated after he was struck by a car while riding his bicycle.

Troy Little, 9, son of Mrs. Judy Little, 156 1/2 W. Main St., was treated for a right ear injury.

Luanna Davis, 28, of 380 Sunview Drive, received treatment after she was stung by a wasp.

Britain Starts Tightening Belt

Stiff Austerity Plan Is Unveiled

LONDON (AP) — Britons hitched up their belts another notch or two today and moved into a period of economic hardship as austere as any they have faced since World War II. There were doubts the new austerity program had gone far enough but some unions rebelled.

The principal reason for the economic recession deliberately set in motion by their government — the defense of the pound sterling in world money markets — was complex and confusing to the man in the street. But he will be hit by higher sales taxes, tighter curbs on consumer credit and a freeze on any increase in wages, prices or dividends.

The austerity program, announced in Parliament Wednesday by Prime Minister Harold Wilson, also chopped $2 billion off government spending, much of it in foreign aid and maintenance of British armed forces in Western Europe and east of Suez.

The reaction at home included expressions of dismay from labor leaders, the backbone of support for Wilson's Labor government.

Frank Cousins, head of the Transport and General Workers Union, the largest in Britain, said his organization could not "accept and cooperate" with the wage freeze.

"I think it is quite the wrong way of dealing with it," he said. The wage-price freeze will not be made compulsory, at least initially, but the government plans legislation to accomplish it in effect by requiring all boosts to be referred to the National Prices and Incomes Board and giving the board six months to study each proposal.

Napoleon Baby Death Is Probed

NAPOLEON, Ohio (AP)—Authorities here are searching for clues in the death of a baby girl whose body was found Monday in the septic tank of a roadside park outside Napoleon.

Pathologists at Toledo's Riverside Hospital said the girl was no more than six months old and had been dead for two days when the body was found.

Death was due to a crushed jaw and fractured skull, they said. Pathologists said the girl may be of Spanish descent.

Napoleon Police Chief Wayne Decker said the baby is believed to have been murdered, although accidental death has not been ruled out.

Improved Salary Schedule At Hospital under Study

The question of what can be done to improve employee salary schedules received considerable attention during Tuesday night's meeting of Berger Hospital's Board of Governors.

Seeking the board's advice and consideration on the pay matter was Charles B. Beard, administrator. He defined the need as an imperative one if the hospital is to progress.

Although the proposal was discussed at length, no official action was taken — mainly because four board members were unable to be present for the regular session.

However, the governors' present agreed to call a special session Monday for a further study. Mayor Ben Gordon said efforts will be made to have the full membership in attendance.

BEARD, in asking the boards consideration, emphasized that adequate salaries are necessary to secure and retain competent personnel. He noted that qualified and dependable help is vitally essential when it comes to dealing with peoples' health.

The administrator explained that most hospitals pay out 65 to 70 per cent of their annual income for salaries. Pointing out that Berger's outlay last year was 56 per cent, he indicated the hospital's improved economic picture would permit a pay increase that would be provided under an employee merit basis.

It was also pointed out that Berger's present operating fund of about $50,000 is the highest in history. An increased patient census at the hospital has been considered a key factor in the improved financial outlook.

Although the city and the county appropriated $10,000 each to bolster the hospital's gagging operating economy at the start of this year, officials said none of the money has been used in view of Berger's financial climb.

In other business the board approved three applications for Berger Medical Staff privileges. Granted courtesy rights were Dr. Richard W. Samuel, local dentist; Dr. William A. Myers, scheduled to set up a general practice in Circleville; and Dr. Wynne Silbernab, Columbus.

The board acted favorably on a motion to transfer $5,000 from the operating fund as a partial repayment of money borrowed from the building fund.

Additional discussion centered on the possibilities of acquiring air conditioning for all sections of the hospital. No formal action was taken.

Foreign Students Pursue LBJ Over His Back Yard

WASHINGTON (AP) — Running, screaming students from overseas pursued President Johnson around his back yard. With a cagey detour he outwitted them, then returned for more.

Shrubs were flattened. Cedar limbs were broken. Flowers were smashed.

Johnson strolled to the south lawn of the White House Wednesday to greet 3,086 American Field Service students from 59 countries. The teenagers return home this weekend after a year in the United States.

The students were ready. Cameras were up, pencils out.

The President, Lady Bird and daughter Lynda walked to a makeshift bandstand amid clapping, cheers and wolf whistles.

He spoke briefly, urging the young people to seek peace, fight poverty, ignorance and disease and work toward world understanding.

"I have been assured that you are future leaders of your countries — future prime ministers and lawmakers and First Ladies," he said. He left the platform amid more cheers.

Ropes holding back the students sagged and Secret Service men closed in around the President as the future prime ministers surged forward.

"Here! Here!" they shouted, reaching for his hands, shoving cameras toward his face. White House police tried to push the crowd back and student chaplains appealed for order. It was too late.

The President and his party made their way across a vine-covered hillside, apparently headed for his office. Hundreds of the teen-agers followed in hot pursuit. Two students lost shoes. One was knocked off her feet.

Police pushed the students back toward the south lawn, behind ropes. Turning unexpectedly, Johnson headed back toward another segment of his 3,086 young visitors.

This sent the rear detachment of the first onslaught running breathlessly toward him. Security tightened. One officer wiped his brow. Another refused to let those with passes into normally approved areas, shouting, "This is an emergency!"

The President seemed to relish the attention. He nodded, grabbed hands and smiled in the bright afternoon sunshine.

He walked alone down the driveway toward his office as police held the students behind the ropes. Halfway there, he turned toward the still cheering young people and watched them a moment as if contemplating victory.

Then he waved and was gone.

National Guardsmen rushed up. Firemen, meanwhile, were fighting a $100,000 fire at a dance hall and skating rink.

Four policemen rushing to the fire were injured when two cruisers collided.

Eight hundred National Guardsmen backing up policemen kept down major trouble during the night, but firemen were plagued by 119 calls, including 13 false alarms.

Firebombs were hurled at numerous buildings, setting off small fires. Police reported window smashing and looting on some streets.

But the combined force of guardsmen and policemen held down any major outbreak in the Hough (pronounced "buff") slums where rioting Monday and Tuesday nights left two Negroes killed by gunfire and 24 persons injured.

Two shots were fired about 3 a.m. on Hough Avenue, a guard at a grocery store reported. Minutes later a parked car on the street exploded into flames.

The bullets smashed into a metal sign within six feet of several private guards at the store. None was hit.

"That's good shooting, especially in the dark," a guard said wryly. The gunfire was not returned.

Most of the firebombing and store looting was outside the Hough area, sealed off Wednesday by the guardsmen armed with rifles and jeep-mounted machine guns.

Gov. James A. Rhodes called up nearly 2,000 guardsmen Tuesday night on request of Mayor Ralph S. Locher. The mayor talked by telephone Wednesday with Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey about the situation.

Locher said the vice president offered "any assistance that you and the people of Cleveland may need." The mayor said he and Humphrey discussed federal aid to the slum area businesses whose stores were wrecked, looted or burned.

U.S. Foreign Aid Program Seen Hurt by Senate Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield expressed concern today the Senate may be damaging the administration's foreign aid program.

The senators Wednesday cut $250 million from the proposed development loan program for this year and then stiffened terms on what was left.

"I think the cut was too steep," Mansfield told newsmen at an informal news conference before the Senate convened.

Further, he said, "the increase in interest rates during the grace period may have an adverse effect on the Alliance for Progress which I think is of vital interest to this country."

Mansfield said earlier there was a general feeling of disenchantment in the Senate about the foreign aid bill.

Officials of the Agency for International Development solemnly watched from the gallery as the Senate, seemingly in a mutinous mood, took the ax to the $2.4-billion economic assistance bill.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen pointed first to the need for Uncle Sam to save money and then to the spectre of inflation.

Dirksen confided that a loaf of whole wheat bread he likes for sandwiches cost 25 cents last week but when he bought it this week it was 30 cents.

"The people are beginning to get just a little excited, and just a little concerned," he said.

The Senate, he said, couldn't short-change the soldiers in Viet Nam, so he proposed cutting $250 million from the $620-million tagged for development loans.

The Senate voted 59 to 34 to make the cut. Chairman J. W. Fulbright of the Foreign Relations Committee — the bill's manager — was among the yeas.

"This has been building up for years," said Mansfield. Now, he acknowledged, it is complicated by the war, worries about the economy pinched domestic programs and high interest rates.

Driver Cited On Vehicle Noise Count

David Valentine, 24, Stoutsville, cited by Circleville Police on two counts, waived a court hearing on one and forfeited a bond on the other.

Valentine was charged with making unnecessary noises with a motor vehicle and with reckless operation. Waiving a court hearing on the first count, he entered a plea of guilty and paid a fine of $10 and costs.

City Council this week approved an ordinance providing specific penalties for the undue motor vehicle noise violation. Police have indicated they will enforce the measure to the fullest.

Valentine posted a $60 bond for reckless operation, but forfeited the amount when he failed to appear today for a court hearing.

Augustus Ball, 42, Columbus; was fined $15 and costs for speeding 72 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Additional discussion centered on the possibilities of acquiring air conditioning for all sections of the hospital. No formal action was taken.

Foreign Students Pursue LBJ Over His Back Yard

WASHINGTON (AP)—Running, screaming students from overseas pursued President Johnson around his back yard. With a cagey detour he outwitted them, then returned for more.

Shrubs were flattened. Cedar limbs were broken. Flowers were smashed.

Johnson strolled to the south lawn of the White House Wednesday to greet 3,086 American Field Service students from 59 countries. The teenagers return home this weekend after a year in the United States.

The students were ready. Cameras were up, pencils out.

The President, Lady Bird and daughter Lynda walked to a makeshift bandstand amid clapping, cheers and wolf whistles.

He spoke briefly, urging the young people to seek peace, fight poverty, ignorance and disease and work toward world understanding.

"I have been assured that you are future leaders of your countries — future prime ministers and lawmakers and First Ladies," he said. He left the platform amid more cheers.

Ropes holding back the students sagged and Secret Service men closed in around the President as the future prime ministers surged forward.

"Here! Here!" they shouted, reaching for his hands, shoving cameras toward his face. White House police tried to push the crowd back and student chaperones appealed for order. It was too late.

The President and his party made their way across a vine-covered hillside, apparently headed for his office. Hundreds of the teen-agers followed in hot pursuit. Two students lost shoes. One was knocked off her feet.

Police pushed the students back toward the south lawn, behind ropes. Turning unexpectedly, Johnson headed back toward another segment of his 3,086 young visitors.

This sent the rear detachment of the first onslaught running breathlessly toward him. Security tightened. One officer wiped his brow. Another refused to let those with passes into normally approved areas, shouting, "This is an emergency!"

The President seemed to relish the attention. He nodded, grabbed hands and smiled in the bright afternoon sunshine.

He walked alone down the driveway toward his office as police held the students behind the ropes. Halfway there, he turned toward the still cheering young people and watched them a moment as if contemplating victory.

Then he waved and was gone.

Slayer of Husband Given Term in Prison

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A woman who said she shot her husband when he flipped a coin to decide whether to stay with her was sentenced Wednesday to 1-20 years in prison.

Willie Ruby Taylor, 36, had pleaded guilty to a first degree manslaughter charge in the death of her husband in April of 1965.

National Guardsmen rushed up. Firemen, meanwhile, were fighting a $100,000 fire at a dance hall and skating rink.

Four policemen rushing to the fire were injured when two cruisers collided.

Eight hundred National Guardsmen backing up policemen kept down major trouble during the night, but firemen were plagued by 119 calls, including 13 false alarms.

Firebombs were hurled at numerous buildings, setting off small fires. Police reported window smashing and looting on some streets.

But the combined force of guardsmen and policemen held down any major outbreak in the Hough (pronounced "huff") slums where rioting Monday and Tuesday nights left two Negroes killed by gunfire and 24 persons injured.

Two shots were fired about 3 a.m. on Hough Avenue, a guard at a grocery store reported. Minutes later a parked car on the street exploded into flames.

The bullets smashed into a metal sign within six feet of several private guards at the store. None was hit.

"That's good shooting, especially in the dark," a guard said wryly. The gunfire was not returned.

Most of the firebombing and store looting was outside the Hough area, sealed off Wednesday by the guardsmen armed with rifles and jeep-mounted machine guns.

Gov. James A. Rhodes called up nearly 2,000 guardsmen Tuesday night on request of Mayor Ralph S. Locher. The mayor talked by telephone Wednesday with Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey about the situation.

Locher said the vice president offered "any assistance that you and the people of Cleveland may need." The mayor said he and Humphrey discussed federal aid to the slum area businessmen whose stores were wrecked, looted or burned.

U.S. Foreign Aid Program Seen Hurt by Senate Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield expressed concern today the Senate may be damaging the administration's foreign aid program.

The senators Wednesday cut $250 million from the proposed development loan program for this year and then stiffened terms on what was left.

"I think the cut was too steep," Mansfield told newsmen at an informal news conference before the Senate convened.

Further, he said, "the increase in interest rates during the grace period may have an adverse effect on the Alliance for Progress which I think is of vital interest to this country."

Mansfield said earlier there was a general feeling of disenchantment in the Senate about the foreign aid bill.

Officials of the Agency for International Development solemnly watched from the gallery as the Senate, seemingly in a mutinous mood, took the ax to the $2.4-billion economic assistance bill.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen pointed first to the need for Uncle Sam to save money and then to the spectre of inflation.

Dirksen confided that a loaf of whole wheat bread he likes for sandwiches cost 25 cents last week but when he bought it this week it was 30 cents.

"The people are beginning to get just a little excited, and just a little concerned," he said.

The Senate, he said, couldn't short-change the soldiers in Viet Nam, so he proposed cutting $250 million from the $620-million tagged for development loans.

The Senate voted 59 to 34 to make the cut. Chairman J. W. Fulbright of the Foreign Relations Committee — the bill's manager — was among the yeas.

"This has been building up for years," said Mansfield.

Now, he acknowledged, it is complicated by the war, worries about the economy pinched domestic programs and high interest rates.

Driver Cited On Vehicle Noise Count

David Valentine, 24, Stoutsville, cited by Circleville Police on two counts, waived a court hearing on one and forfeited a bond on the other.

Valentine was charged with making unnecessary noises with a motor vehicle and with reckless operation. Waiving a court hearing on the first count, he entered a plea of guilty and paid a fine of $10 and costs.

City Council this week approved an ordinance providing specific penalties for the undue motor vehicle noise violation. Police have indicated they will enforce the measure to the fullest.

Valentine posted a $60 bond for reckless operation, but forfeited the amount when he failed to appear today for a court hearing.

Augustus Ball, 42, Columbus; was fined $15 and costs for speeding 72 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Phone Book Corrections To Be Noted

Deadline for making changes of listing in the 1966 Circleville telephone directory is July 29, according to Robert Keatley, district commercial manager.

The new directory, which will be delivered in October, will drop exchange letters of GR, YU and DE. Numbers will be used for all exchanges Keatley said.

Keatley said customers should report any corrections in their phone listings or changes of address planned before October to the company's Circleville business office.

The local manager said this would affect any person or business that plans to move or install a telephone before the directory is published. "If we know of changes in advance we can make sure the customer's name, address and correct phone number are listed in the new directory," Keatley said.

Other communities listed in the new book with Circleville are Amanda, Laurelville, Ashville, Williamsport and the Hallsville exchange of the Chillicothe Telephone Co.

2 Missing Boys Found OK in Cave

NEW CASTLE, Pa. (AP) — Two cold and hungry teen-agers both "pretty scared" were found in a cave where they had been missing for part of a day.

Rescue workers came upon the boys, James Mancini and Harold Hartman, both 15, of Youngstown, Ohio, on a ledge just inside one of the mouths of the cave.

"They're not in bad shape," said Chuck Goodwin, one of the men who searched through the night. "They're cold. They are hungry and they're pretty scared."

Goodwin said both boys walked out about 6:15 a. m. with little assistance to a waiting ambulance. It whisked them to a hospital in nearby New Castle.

Goodwin said the searchers must have passed the boys repeatedly during the search.

"We must have passed them up a dozen times," he said.

"Nobody knows how big it is or how far back it goes," he said. "It has five entrances and 'you can't tell where you're going. It's like a honeycomb. The tunnels go up and down. It's like a house of mirrors. If you turn around once, you don't know where you are."

The boys entered the cave through a slit only two feet high and six feet wide.

Local Firm Incorporates

Articles of incorporation have been filed with the Secretary of State's office by a new local firm.

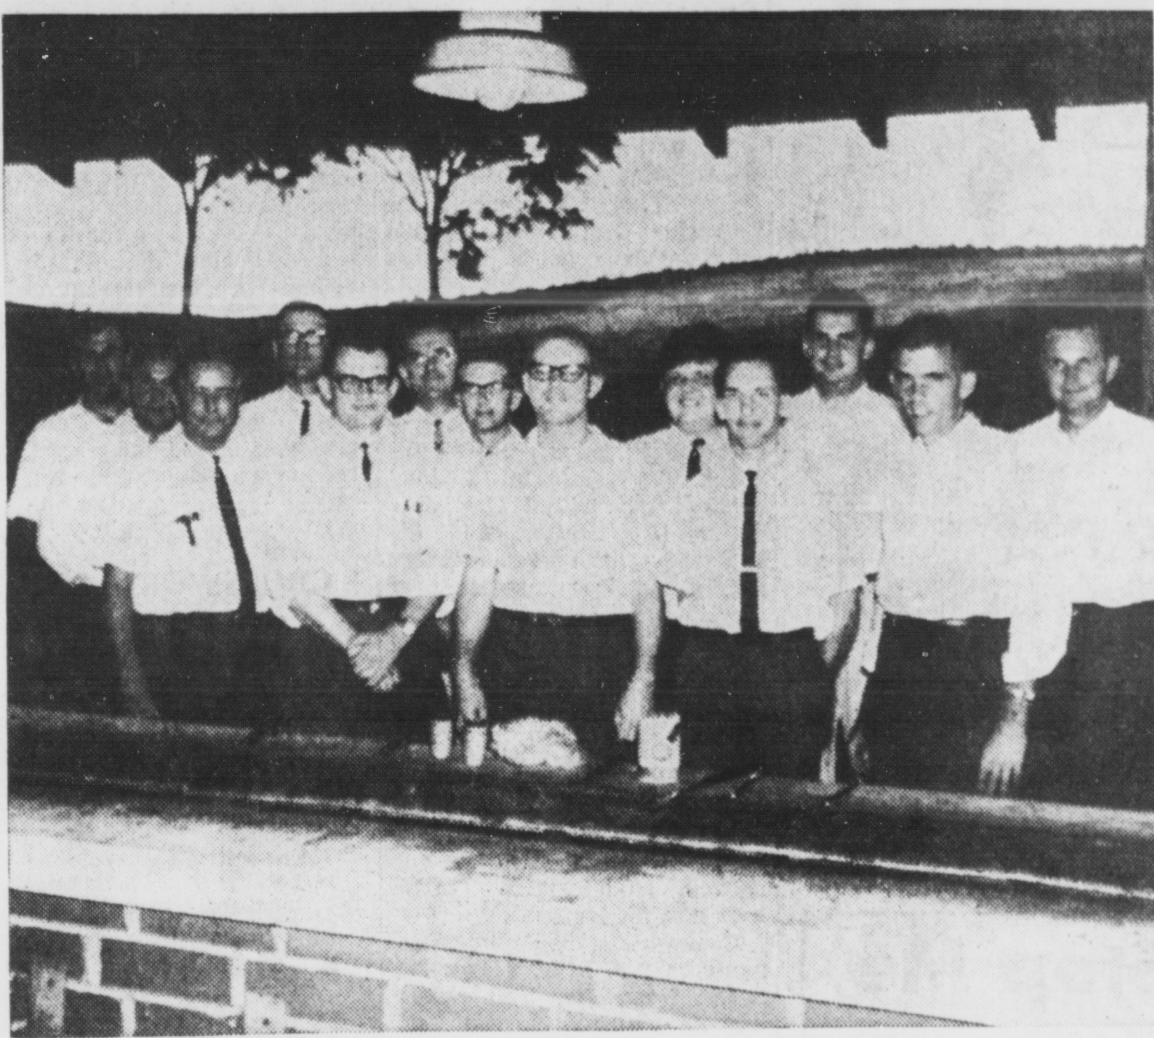

The new corporation is listed as the Circleville - Pickaway Corp. Incorporators are Robert B. Kenworthy, W. E. Christopher and Richard W. Penn.

According to Kenworthy the new firm will operate as a mutual fund. Purpose of the corporation will be to invest money in real estate for both residential and commercial development.

Agent for the filing was Penn, a local attorney.

Ohio Senators Split On Foreign Aid Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—One of Ohio's Democratic senators, Stephen M. Young, voted aye and the other, Frank Lausche, voted nay Wednesday on an amendment to cut the foreign aid bill by $250 million. The amendment by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., won 50-34 approval.

Dayton City Employees End Their Strike

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The garbage men were at work before the milk men in Dayton today, trying to make a dent in the trash that piled up during a city employees' strike that ended Wednesday night.

After members of the Dayton Public Service Union voted Wednesday night to end their two-day strike, some of them were put to work immediately on an overtime basis. The others were to report this morning.

Several garbage trucks began making pickups Wednesday night and were still on their rounds after midnight.

The union's decision to end the walkout was recommended by union leaders who met in the afternoon with city officials. The city promised to re-open wage negotiations under the union's current contract and to ignore state and city laws that carry heavy penalties for public employees who strike.

City council passed an emergency ordinance Wednesday night that it said would guarantee protection to union members against any possible reprisals for taking part in the strike.

Most of the 1,100 members of the union joined in the walkout, called after the city refused to re-open wage negotiations. The union requested the re-opening because its 10½-cent hourly raise was topped by non-union city employees, including firemen and police. The non-union workers received increases of 28½ cents an hour.

Services affected by the strike, besides garbage collections, included water and sewers and street cleaning.

The manpower shortage forced the closing of one sewer system pumping station, and raw sewage was discharged into the Miami River. Water users got hard water instead of their usual soft water.

But overflowing garbage cans caused the most complaints. One woman said, "I'm not going to pay taxes in this town and get out and haul garbage, too."

The two sides said after Wednesday's meeting that a re-classification study of union jobs was scheduled to begin immediately. It was called an "important element" leading toward the settlement, and they said it should be completed by the end of the year.

Giant Lake Freighter Stalled by Hole in Hull

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — A small hole in her side below the water line prevented the giant, self-loading lake freighter, the Manitoulin, from taking on a record 25,000 tons of coal here Wednesday as planned.

Capt. Mike Drummond of the 19,000-ton, 730 foot vessel, said the damage must have been done when the vessel hit rocks in the inbound channel to the lower lake coal docks on its maiden voyage.

One-Time Rights Foes Now Working Together

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Two old adversaries in the South's battle over desegregation work together now in a quiet move to place Negroes in responsible state government jobs in Arkansas.

On one side is Gov. Orval E. Faubus, who defied federal power in a short-lived attempt to keep Negroes out of Little Rock Central High School in 1957.

On the other side is L.C. Bates, the Negro leader who championed the cause of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People that crisis nine years ago.

Faubus, still the governor, is the ruling thumb on appointments, but Bates, a special adviser, is among those who have his ear.

The arrangement began two years ago, before Faubus announced in March that he wouldn't seek a seventh two-year term.

Bates and Faubus say their dealings had been on a friendly basis, something not to be taken for personal affection between them.

"Respect would be a more accurate word," Bates said.

Faubus, with a grin, said, "I've always been on a friendly basis with L.C."

But in 1957 they had unfriendly things to say about each other. Bates accused Faubus of giving Arkansas a bad name by opposing court-ordered desegregation. Faubus charged in turn that Bates was ignoring the will of the majority of Arkansas for the sake of the Negro minority.

Today their association rests on practicality.

Faubus must get Negroes on the state payroll to keep federal dollars flowing in. Bates, still an NAACP field secretary, can point to the changes and tell his people that segregation is crumbling — at the top as well as the bottom.

More than 200 Negroes have been hired for state jobs in agencies which handle federal funds since the Faubus-Bates arrangement began. It is a matter of necessity, federal law requiring equal job opportunities for all races when federal money is involved.

"Faubus has changed his practices, not his attitude," Bates said. "My attitude is the same, too, for getting more and better jobs for Negroes."

"He plays politics, we know that," Bates said. "But while he's playing politics, we are getting some of the things we've been fighting for."

Faubus didn't seek Bates out but accepted Bates' offer of advice in the selection of qualified Negroes for the positions previously not open to them.

Two others — who have never been identified — are on a committee Bates heads in his advisory role.

Chauncey Man Lost In Hocking River

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — The body of Delbert Clonch, 57, of Chauncey, was found in the Hocking River at the western edge of Athens Wednesday.

Sheriff's deputies said Clonch had last been seen a week ago standing on a boat dock farther up the river. The coroner ruled accidental drowning.

Remedy for Postvacation Blues

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Our jails are full of people who feel unwanted by society.

So are most business offices this time of year. They are thronged with bitter employees who have returned from vacations who find nobody missed them while they were away. They have the "post vacation blues."

The average worker, rested by his annual hiatus at seashore or mountain resort, comes back raring to do a good job. He may be the lowliest cog in the office but he is comfortably sure the place has gone to rack and ruin in his absence.

To his consternation, he is met with utter indifference, or such quips as:

"Where you been hiding, Joe? Long time no see."

"You say you've been on a vacation? From what?"

Few bother to ask the returning pilgrim where he has been, what vacation wonders and horrors he enjoyed or survived. If he tries to tell them, they yawn in his face or make up excuses to break away.

Nobody wants to listen at all to the big new ideas he has to improve the firm — ideas he thought up on his own time.

Joe's joy evaporates.

His vacation has hurt rather than helped Joe's morale. How could it have been more effective? Well, if the personnel department had been really on its toes, the scene might be something like this:

Joe Biffle tries to sneak in, worried because he is 29 seconds late to work after his two weeks off.

"Joe's back!" someone shouts. The staff breaks into cheers and starts throwing papers wildly in the air. Several put Joe on their shoulders and parade him around the desks and water cooler.

"For he's a jolly good fellow!" they sing.

The boss comes out, pounds Joe on the back and says, "Well-come back, son. Boy, was it dull here without you! Everybody take the morning off."

He sends out for coffee and free pastry for all. Joe stands up on a desk and everybody listens entranced while he describes the fish he caught, the bears and Indians he saw, and passes out color photographs he took.

At noon, the boss says, "No, that's all for now. I want to take Joe to lunch at my club. You boys are wearing him out."

The rest of the day Joe spouts off to the board. "Not too fast, Joe," pleads the chairman, taking down notes himself with a gold pencil.

Perhaps the board may not accept all his recommendations, but his vacation has done him a world of good.

He feels wanted. He feels important.

And isn't that the goal of every business office? It just takes a little human forethought by management.

when Babe Herman was playing first base for the Dodgers and Casey was coaching for the Boston Braves. Casey suddenly went into an Indian war dance in the coach's box.

The Babe turned his head to watch the show delightedly — while a ground ball rocketed past first base for a triple. At the inning's end, Dodger manager Wilbert Robinson growled, "For Pete's sake, Herman, don't pay no attention to that clown Stengel. Keep your eye on the ball. Concentrate."

Babe Herman swore he'd never look at Stengel again.

A few innings later, Casey now standing immobile temporarily, was startled to hear Babe Herman whisper from his first base position, "Hey, Case! Do that Indian war dance again, will ya?"

Note found in a Wisconsin household, penciled by a 9-year-old girl after an argument: "Goodbye, family. You all hate me. I love you anyhow. Bless you! P.S. In case of fire, I'm in the attic."

Advice from a marriage counselor: "The best way to cure your wife's nagging is by affection, understanding, tolerance — and stuffing a pair of old socks in her mouth."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLKMAN, M.D.

For the past year I find that I wake each morning with a tremendous sense of fatigue even after a good night's sleep. I find that I am barely able to get through the day's chores of running a home with two active children.

Since I have no physical ailments I am beginning to feel that my family's suggestion that this is all psychological may be correct. Are there any hidden causes for fatigue?

Mrs. R. L., Pennsylvania
Dear Mrs. L.: Running a home with its multiple obligations can be taxing physically and emotionally. Yet, many people carry on these obligations even though their stamina seems inadequate.

Forcing oneself to expend the additional energy only tends to emphasize the fatigue. The easy way out is for your family to accuse you of being a "Psychosomatic Personality."

Actually, I believe that this does you a great injustice. Before any illness is attributed to emotions and stress, every conceivable test must first rule out the absence of organic or physical illness.

Chronic fatigue is a symptom, a very important symptom, that must not be overlooked or casually disregarded. Even though none of these apply to you let me just name a few conditions in which tiredness is predominant.

Chronic infections, hormone imbalance, overactive thyroids, underactive thyroids, vitamin deficiencies, diabetes, kidney and liver diseases are only a few of the conditions that may be responsible for fatigue.

Low blood pressure, low blood sugar, menstrual disorders and menopause must also be ruled out in all cases of fatigue that does not respond to sufficient rest. Only after all tests have been shown to be negative should a psychological basis for your condition be considered.

The unusual amount of energy that it takes to run a home, care for a husband and children, do the chores and still be the charming mother and wife at the end of the day is limitless. Only those who carry on these obligations can understand your right to be exhausted as you seem to be.

My husband has been warned that he must stop drinking any alcohol because he has cirrhosis of the liver. Why is this so dangerous?

Mr. T. T. A., Georgia
Dear Mrs. A.: When alcohol in any form is taken in large quantities over a long period of time it can produce changes in

Word Game Goes On

By John Chamberlain

Bowing to the leftist influence in his advisory entourage, Lyndon Johnson is now offering "reconciliation" to Red China. But the LBJ game amounts to little more than asking the wishful and wistful question, "Wouldn't it be nice if the Chinese Communists would only behave in a civilized manner?"

Since "fight, fight, talk, talk" is the essence of Red Chinese tactics, it is not beyond the bounds of possibility that Peking might suddenly decide to seek safety for Ho Chi Minh's North Vietnamese by a compromise peace. But if it does so, it will be because of the unexpected skill of U. S. bombers in dodging Red missiles over the Hanoi oil tanks and not because of soft palaver from LBJ or insinuations that we might welcome Peking in the UN.

In other words, it will be because Ho Chi Minh has suddenly recognized that he is up against an air force that has virtually uncontested control of the skies. Peking, with its vulnerable atomic sites might well take the hint.

Meanwhile, the diplomatic game that is being played between Washington and Peking has its saturnine comic aspects. Both sides speak with the dual purpose of satisfying internal and external necessities. The Red Chinese are in the midst of a sweeping purge, trying to silence any and all opponents of "Mao Tse-tung's thought" before the bloody old dictator passes from the scene. Tien Han, the author of the Red Chinese national anthem, has recently been humbled for the "crime" of "preaching an idealistic historical viewpoint."

Wu Han, the historian who became deputy mayor of Peking, has been chastised for involving "idealism" in attacking bureaucracy. And 16,000 "anti-party intellectuals" have been sent to "remoulding camps" for similar "crimes" of an ideological nature.

Now how, in the midst of such toughness at home, can Peking afford to engage in open conciliation abroad? If it can't stomach "bourgeois idealism" in Tien Han and Wu Han, it could hardly welcome Lyndon Johnson's offer of an olive branch in that speech that was recently telephoned to an audience in West Virginia. The Red Chinese "People's Daily" of Peking is true to the purge spirit when it says the U. S. policy of "containment without isolation" is a "manifestation of counter-revolutionary dual tactics." Says the "People's Daily," "Whether try its 'tough' tactics or by its 'soft' tactics or by the simultaneous application of both tactics, U.S. imperialism cannot hope to browbeat or deceive the Chinese people. . . . Helplessly and hopelessly, Harvard Professor John K. Fairbank, the so-called veteran 'China specialist,' and others again put forward the long discredited 'two Chinas' formula."

Some others proposed that "unconditional discussions" be held and "diplomatic relations" established. . . . But . . . the great debate in the United States over Washington's China policy shows once again that it is mere illusion. . . . Nor will there be any result if more discussions are held. Gentlemen in Washington, there is nothing you can do about it."

So what, in view of this intransigence, is the use of Johnson talking? The answer is that, while Peking must sustain the purge spirit for its own domestic consumption, the White House must conciliate the appeasing spirit in the U.S. and abroad for political reasons that pertain to holding power in the West. Peking is busy suppressing its softies; Lyndon Johnson is busy fending the U.S., British and French softies off while he leads from military strength in Southeast Asia to prove to Ho Chi Minh and Mao Tse-tung that he can win on the battlefield no matter how western intellectuals abuse their right of free speech behind the lines.

What bothers this column is that intellectuals who are supposed to be thoughtful can't see through the nature of the "fight, fight, talk, talk" game as it is played by both Peking and Washington. The war in Southeast Asia will come to an end when the Communists have been finally convinced they can get nowhere by prolonging the military phase of the international struggle. When this point is reached we will have to begin to worry about words. For the moment, publicly spoken words are mere counters in a game of make-believe. What is being said in secret between envoys in Warsaw, or in Moscow, or in Ottawa, is something else again.

Actually, I believe that this does you a great injustice. Before any illness is attributed to emotions and stress, every conceivable test must first rule out the absence of organic or physical illness.

Chronic fatigue is a symptom, a very important symptom, that must not be overlooked or casually disregarded. Even though none of these apply to you let me just name a few conditions in which tiredness is predominant.

Chronic infections, hormone imbalance, overactive thyroids, underactive thyroids, vitamin deficiencies, diabetes, kidney and liver diseases are only a few of the conditions that may be responsible for fatigue.

Low blood pressure, low blood sugar, menstrual disorders and menopause must also be ruled out in all cases of fatigue that does not respond to sufficient rest. Only after all tests have been shown to be negative should a psychological basis for your condition be considered.

The unusual amount of energy that it takes to run a home, care for a husband and children, do the chores and still be the charming mother and wife at the end of the day is limitless. Only those who carry on these obligations can understand your right to be as exhausted as you seem to be.

My husband has been warned that he must stop drinking any alcohol because he has cirrhosis of the liver. Why is this so dangerous?

The meeting, sponsored by International Minerals and Chemical Corp. for its plant food division service representatives, covered the latest products and techniques designed to help farmers increase their crop yields and farming profits.

State Banking Board Change Being Urged

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An Ohio Banking Association spokesman today urged changes to make the State Banking Advisory Board more representative of the industry.

Neil Milner, association public relations director, said he would ask a committee of legislators studying state banking laws and practices to recommend changes to the 1967 General Assembly.

The 15-member committee headed by Sen. Charles W. Whalen Jr., R-Montgomery, called on Milner for testimony at its fifth meeting here this afternoon.

Previous witnesses have attacked and defended a practice by state banks of voting trust shares of their own stock. The Cleveland Trust Co., a large state bank, has asked a court ruling on the practice and named Cleveland industrialist Cyrus Eaton, as a defendant in the suit. Eaton also has filed a suit of his own to outlaw the practice.

Milner said his prepared testimony included a proposal to update qualifications for bankers appointed by the governor to serve on the six-member advisory board.

One member each, he said, should represent banks with between $1-10 million in resources, $10-50 million and over $50 million. Present requirements are under $3 million, $3-10 million and over $10 million, he said.

Milner said he also would offer proposals for what he called upgrading of supervisory authority over the banking industry and for chartering banks.

O. E. Anderson, executive manager of the association, said earlier that the association was preparing extensive recommendations for revision of banking laws. They are expected to be offered later.

Sen. David T. Matia, D-Cuyahoga, a committee member, said recently that Ohio's branch

Neville Brand, one of the three Texas Musketeers in NBC's "Laredo," is a serious performer who studied at the American Theatre Wing. That face, however, is currently a part of his fortune.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — How do I like being a comedian after playing hoods all the time? So what's the big switch?

When they signed me up for the part of Reese Bennett in "Laredo," I did some research on the Texas Rangers. And you know what I found out? After reading a few books on these guys, I discovered that the Texas Rangers were the Al Capones and the Frank Nittis of the Old West!

Some Texas Rangers signed up because they were wanted—not by their women folk—but by the sheriff in some town. I gather a good many of them were wanted for bank robbery or cattle rustling, but others were wanted for plain old murder. They didn't have any FBI in those days, so if a guy killed a man in Kansas, all he had to do was cross the border into Texas and no one could touch him.

But if he killed a guy in Texas and wanted to stay in that state, the law would let him off if he signed up for a hitch with the Rangers. When his hitch was over, he'd be a free man banking laws should be broadened. He called in a statement for lifting the countywide limitation on branch banks to permit their statewide operation.

"I feel," Matia said, "that in view of the present trend in industry and commerce to locate offices and plants in the expanding metropolitan areas surrounding the larger cities, and irrespective of county lines, this limitation on branching severely inhibits the extension of much-needed banking services in many parts of the state."

Panel Named To Assist Ohio Elderly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Seven Ohioans have been named to a technical review committee for awarding of more than $300,000 in grants during the coming year for development and improvement of programs for the state's senior citizens.

Martin A. Janis, director of the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction, announced the appointments. He said the committee will function in the department's Division of Administration on Aging. The division was created to administer the Older Americans Act of Ohio and funds available for grants this year represent funds from two fiscal years, last year and the current year.

Committee duties will be to consider the technical merits of proposed projects, validity of requests for grants, reasonable expectation of success of a project, and adequacy of administration.

Those named to the committee by Janis were: Mrs. Muriel Allen, Hamilton, president of the Ohio Association of Senior Centers; Dr. Fred Cottrell, chairman of the Department of Sociology, Miami University; Dr. Si Dinitz, Ohio State University; Dr. Mary Temmy, Cleveland, executive director of the Benjamin Rose Institute; Jerome Kaplan, Mansfield, executive director of Mansfield Memorial Homes; Dr. Martin Keller, Ohio State University, and McClinton Nunn, Toledo, director of the Toledo Metropolitan Housing Authority.

Submachine Gun Used 'Just To Scare People'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Patrolman Charles Deery walked up behind a man who was holding several people at bay in a downtown garage with a submachine gun recently and said, "What are you doing with that thing?"

"I'm just trying to scare people," was the reply from Richard Belfatti, 30, police said.

The gun was not loaded and its barrel had been plugged. Belfatti was jailed on a charge of illegal possession of a machine gun.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Deal Proposes Many Benefits

DEAR ABBY: There are so many people in their sixties alone and lonely for companionship, and I know why.

I am a man, nearly 65, I am retired and on Social Security. I own an old car and work a few hours to keep it running.

For the past three years I've been trying to find a lady to go steady with, but I've given up. I can't afford it.

I have met a lot of women near my age, and they are wonderful company. But the trouble is, they all expect a man to take them out a couple of nights a week, wine them and dine them, go to drive-in movies, and for drives and lunches.

One of them said, "My company should be worth that much. Well, how about MY company?"

I wouldn't expect a woman to share car expenses, but if both have about the same incomes and stretched a dollar we could have a wonderful time if we shared expenses. Neither one of us is a prize package anymore. Why act like it?

J. IN SAN DIEGO

DEAR J.: You'd be surprised how many women in their sixties would buy the deal you propose. Why don't you lay all your cards on the table? You could draw a queen.

Capt. Kerns Transferred To Anchorage

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Deal Proposes Many Benefits

DEAR ABBY: There are so many people in their sixties alone and lonely for companionship, and I know why.

I am a man, nearly 65. I am retired and on Social Security. I own an old car and work a few hours to keep it running.

For the past three years I've been trying to find a lady to go steady with, but I've given up. I can't afford it.

I have met a lot of women near my age, and they are wonderful company. But the trouble is, they all expect a man to take them out a couple of nights a week, wine them and dine them, go to drive-in movies, and for drives and lunches.

One of them said, "My company should be worth that much. Well, how about MY company?"

I wouldn't expect a woman to share car expenses, but if both have about the same incomes and stretched a dollar we could have a wonderful time if we shared expenses. Neither one of us is a prize package anymore. Why ask like it?

J. IN SAN DIEGO

DEAR J.: You'd be surprised how many women in their sixties would buy the deal you propose. Why don't you lay all your cards on the table? You could draw a queen.

Capt. Kerns Transferred To Anchorage

Captain and Mrs. Harold E. Kerns and children, Michael, Denise and Pamela, son of Dr. and Mrs. V. D. Kerns, 234 N. Scioto St., has spent the past month visiting relatives and friends in and near Circleville and Chillicothe prior to moving to a new duty station.

Capt. Kerns is a graduate of the U. S. Air Force Air Command and Staff College at Maxwell Air Force Base, Montgomery, Ala. He is a graduate of Circleville High School.

By BARRY SCHWEID

For James Marlow

WASHINGTON AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse will put his recognized talent as a parliamentary tactician on the line in the Senate in the next few weeks, with the fate of home rule for the District of Columbia riding on the outcome.

The Oregon Democrat's plan is to force a vote on self-representation for Washington's 800,000 citizens by bypassing the House District of Columbia Committee, the burial ground for home rule legislation since World War II.

Until Morse, one of the most persistent of home rule advocates, stepped into the breach, home rule appeared dead for this session of Congress.

Whether he can force passage may depend on how much support the White House gives him.

Early last September, the prospects for home rule appeared brighter than they had at any time since 1874, the year Congress substituted appointed commissioners for local government.

In response to a personal plea from President Johnson, a majority of House members had, by petition, forced the administration's home rule bill from the committee and brought it to the floor for a vote.

Johnson said the step presaged "victory in the final battle of the American Revolution." Home rule supporters were jubilant: The President's power of persuasion had carried the day again.

Said Joseph L. Rauh Jr., a leader of home rule lobbyists: "When I was a kid, it was always a sure thing when you bet on Joe Louis, the Yankees and Notre Dame. Now I'd add a fourth—LBJ."

By the end of the month the jubilation had turned to despair.

While the administration bill would have given Washington a mayor and council, the House passed a substitute bill providing for a referendum on whether district residents want home rule.

There matters stood when Congress quit for the year and there they stood Sunday when Morse announced his plan at a home rule rally at the Washington Monument.

Appropriate Tree Cites Gripping Golfer

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP) — Because he complains about his golf game, friends of retired banker Elmer Stowe recently planted a tree at the course they use.

The tree bears the sign, "To remember Old Elmer." It's a weeping willow.

ton Monument. The Senate and House were in sharp disagreement and the House District Committee, dominated by Southern conservatives, wouldn't even appoint conferees to try to resolve the differences.

The fact that about 62 per cent of Washington's residents are Negroes undoubtedly has a lot to do with the failure of hundreds of home rule bills in past years.

There have been hints that continued failure may touch off an explosion. For example, Marion Barry Jr., Washington head of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, vowed last week: "We aren't going to be nice anymore in demanding changes because we're tired of that mess."

What Morse plans to do is to attach a modified version of the Senate-passed home rule bill to the administration's higher education bill, expected to clear the Senate Labor and Education Committee in a few weeks.

If the Senate approves the amendment, the bill would go to the House Education and Labor Committee, headed by Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr., who supports the Morse plan.

So far this year, Johnson has had little to say about home rule. He appealed for its enactment in his State of the Union message Jan. 12 and in submitting the district's budget to Congress Jan. 25 urged the House "to complete action" on the Senate-passed bill.

Home rule advocates are hoping he'll take a more active role before Congress goes home.

For James Marlow

WASHINGTON AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse will put his recognized talent as a parliamentary tactician on the line in the Senate in the next few weeks, with the fate of home rule for the District of Columbia riding on the outcome.

The Oregon Democrat's plan is to force a vote on self-representation for Washington's 800,000 citizens by bypassing the House District of Columbia Committee, the burial ground for home rule legislation since World War II.

Until Morse, one of the most persistent of home rule advocates, stepped into the breach, home rule appeared dead for this session of Congress.

Whether he can force passage may depend on how much support the White House gives him.

Early last September, the prospects for home rule appeared brighter than they had at any time since 1874, the year Congress substituted appointed commissioners for local government.

In response to a personal plea from President Johnson, a majority of House members had, by petition, forced the administration's home rule bill from the committee and brought it to the floor for a vote.

Johnson said the step pre-empted "victory in the final battle of the American Revolution." Home rule supporters were jubilant: The President's power of persuasion had carried the day again.

Said Joseph L. Rauh Jr., a leader of home rule lobbyists: "When I was a kid, it was always a sure thing when you bet on Joe Louis, the Yankees and Notre Dame. Now I'd add a fourth—LBJ."

By the end of the month the jubilation had turned to despair.

While the administration bill would have given Washington a mayor and council, the House passed a substitute bill providing for a referendum on whether district residents want home rule.

There matters stood when Congress quit for the year and there they stood Sunday when Morse announced his plan at a home rule rally at the Washington Monument. The Senate and House were in sharp disagreement and the House District Committee, dominated by Southern conservatives, wouldn't even appoint conferees to try to resolve the differences.

The fact that about 62 per cent of Washington's residents are Negroes undoubtedly has a lot to do with the failure of hundreds of home rule bills in past years.

There have been hints that continued failure may touch off an explosion. For example Marlon Barry Jr., Washington head of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, vowed last week: "We aren't going to be nice anymore in demanding changes because we're tired of that mess."

What Morse plans to do is to attach a modified version of the Senate-passed home rule bill to the administration's higher education bill, expected to clear the Senate Labor and Education Committee in a few weeks.

If the Senate approves the amendment, the bill would go to the House Education and Labor Committee, headed by Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr., who supports the Morse plan.

So far this year, Johnson has had little to say about home rule. He appealed for its enactment in his State of the Union message Jan. 12 and in submitting the district's budget to Congress Jan. 25 urged the House "to complete action" on the Senate-passed bill.

Home rule advocates are hoping he'll take a more active role before Congress goes home.

If it does not rain he irrigates from his enormous well. He has an irrigation crew that lays the big movable pipes and places the water guns wherever they are needed.

The guns spray out water in all directions. Crops are irrigated in this fashion for two hours and then the equipment is moved to another field.

When crops are slow Richard imports produce. Melons and peaches were arriving that HYBRIDIZER — Handy Hatfield examines some of his finer named varieties of hemerocallis. Hatfield will be a junior in the College of Horticulture at Ohio State University next year. He has been hybridizing daylilies for four years now. In his bed of seedlings there are 1,500 young plants, all carefully labeled as to parentage. Hatfield, who visits daylily gardens far and wide, believes some of his own seedling hybrids show considerable promise and he may in time develop one that can be named, registered with the American Hemerocallis Society and eventually put on the market.

This is the season when it is well to check evergreens for bagworms, particularly the Arborvitae, Juniper and Spruce trees.

Usually they start in the tender top shoots of the evergreens. The remedy is to spray with arsenate of lead, using 2 1/2 level tablespoons of this material to the gallon of water.

The worm that formed the cocoon last year is transformed into a moth that leaves the cocoon in the early spring. It flies around and lays eggs that hatch out in late June as worms that start eating the evergreens.

Arsenate of lead is a stomach poison that kills the young bagworms after they eat the poison covered foliage. Yew evergreens seem to be immune to bagworm damage.

All Amateur Growers Are Eligible To Exhibit at County Fair Show

The Pickaway County Fair Flower Show will be held in the room under the Fairgrounds Grandstand again this year.

There will be three different flower shows on different days. This allows visitors to see fresh displays.

Mrs. Charles Fleming, show chairman, has indicated that prize money for artistic arrangements will be increased this year.

Mrs. Fleming emphasized that the flower show is a countywide event and is in no way connected with garden clubs. She hopes all amateur growers will exhibit. All judging will be oral.

THE SCHEDULE is an intriguing one for the first day. It is "Farmer in the Dell". This first exhibit will be staged and judged Aug. 2.

On Aug. 3 the junior flower show will be held. It will indicate both artistic and horticultural divisions. Theme of the junior show is "A Happy Day at the Fair."

The third and last flower show will be on Aug. 4. The title of this exhibit will be "Our Heritage".

Farmer in the Dell

1. Up at Dawn — own interpretation, painted material permitted.
2. Work Day — an arrangement using a tool or part of an implement.
3. Both Sides of the Fence — an arrangement of weeds and flowers in any container.
4. In Green Pastures — an all foliage arrangement, no dried material.
5. To Market To Market — an arrangement using either fruits or vegetables or both, flowers optional.
6. County Fair — an arrangement in a natural container.
7. What Has Happened to Grandma's Bouquet — an abstract, painted material permitted, a card with your interpretation must accompany this arrangement.

8. The Old Mill Stream — an arrangement using water as part of the design.

9. Barn Dance — an arrangement expressing rhythm.

10. Church in the Dell — an arrangement expressing an inspirational feeling.

Classes in the houseplants section will be African violets, begonias, vines, succulents and terrariums (plants in glass container).

Specimen flowers are to be exhibited for quality only. Classes are:

1. Zinnia, large flowered, 3 individual blooms; 2. Zinnia, fantasy, 3 individual blooms; 3. Marigold, African, 3 individual blooms; 4. Snapdragons, any variety, any color, 3 stems; 5. Gladiolus, large type, ruffled, any color, one spike; 6. Gladiolus, large type, plain any color, one spike; 7. Celosia, feathery type, one stem; 8. Dahlia, pompon, ny color, 3 individual blooms; 9. Asters, double, any color, 3 individual blooms; 10. Roses, Floribundas, any color, 3 stems.

ment using native wood and foliage, fresh or dried material.

3. Chief Cornstalk — an arrangement using corn only, in any form.

4. Floyd Bartley — an arrangement honoring Pickaway County's Naturalist, arranger's choice, no painted material.

5. Birds in Flight — Honoring Dr. Howard Jones, an arrangement expressing motion.

6. Little Red Schoolhouse — an arrangement featuring red flowers.

7. Early Industry — an abstract, painted material permitted.

8. The Old Canal — an arrangement using water as part of the design.

9. Yesterday's Treasures — an arrangement in an antique container.

10. Our Churches — a mass arrangement.

Specimen classes are: 1. Zinnias, small pompon, 3 individual blooms; 2. Marigolds, French 5 individual blooms; 3. Gladiolus, miniature, any color, 3 spikes; 4. Cosmos, any color, 3 individual blooms; 5. Roses, tea, any color, 3 individual blooms; 6. Roses, grandiflora, any color, 3 stems; 7. Caladendula, any color, 3 individual blooms; 8. Celosia, crested type, any color, one stem. 9. Dahlia, large type (8 inches or over) any color, 1 bloom; 10. Asters, single, any color, 3 individual blooms.

Houseplants classes are: 1. Ferns; 2. Variegated foliage; 3. Tropical plants; 4. Best plant any other variety (plants exhibited in Tuesday's show may not be entered in this class); 5. Dish gardens (growing plants in a shallow container).

Rules, regulations, prizes to be awarded and other essential information is contained in the 1966 County Fair premium book starting on page 61. All exhibitors are urged to read the directions carefully.

Garden Gossip

Seldom has Circleville had so distinguished a guest as Carlton B. Lees, director of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society and editor-in-chief of the society's popular publication "Horticulture Magazine."

When Lees was horticulturist at Kingwood Center at Mansfield he conducted a course in budget landscaping annually. His excellent book on landscaping should be in the library of every new homeowner. The publication is entitled "Budget Landscaping".

Lees proved to be a delightful person and kept his audience chuckling. He was also an inspirational speaker and certainly an informative one. He stepped on a few toes possibly. He urged gardeners to be sure of their basic design before they started in on the petunias, or ruffles as he called them.

Mr. Lees would surely have regarded my cemetery urn and tractor tire as un-basic. "Get that design right before you start the decorations," he told us.

One delightful plant not seen around here was Southern Star or oxypetalum. It is a true blue with a long period of blossom. Flowers are single and grown on graceful branches.

Miss Dehl Renick, Mr. Renick's sister, gave us some of maroon colored basil for salad. It is a most ornamental plant, and a tasty herb as well, she says.

The Renicks have 15 kittens which have frolicked in flower beds and containers of plants and made considerable trouble flower-wise. Harford and Dehl say that they think the Richard admits to a special fondness for his bedding plant project and he handles many varieties of annual flowers for his customers.

THEN COME the strawberries. Later peas are ready for market. There's asparagus and rhubarb. Green beans are another crop.

Four or five big trailer trucks load up each morning to distribute sweet corn to city markets far and near. Then come the melons. And lastly the pumpkins!

The May 10 frost obliterated the first planting of melons. Melons are started in pots in the greenhouse and planted outdoors. They include cantaloupes, regular watermelons and seedless watermelons.

Hal Richard has been using a mulch in his extensive melon plantings for a couple of years. And according to the alert young vegetable grower it keeps the weeds down. It is black polyethylene. It unrolls like yard goods.

When melons are large enough to transplant they make a whole in the plastic and plant them in rows. The polyethylene keeps the roots moist and cool and because it is black weeds do not grow.

Richard sees no reason why home gardeners should not have the same success with this mulch as commercial melon growers.

HE GROWS literally hundreds of acres of sweet corn, on his own property as well as leased land. He has been farming the Foresman land the last couple of years.

Hybridizers register their promising seedlings with the American Hemerocallis Society.

The most important use of modern daylilies is for landscape purposes. They can be grouped among shrubs and evergreens to present a most attractive summer effect. Low growing varieties can be used as a border planting. They can even be used in rock gardens.

Daylilies vary in height from 12 inches to three or four feet.

For a dazzling effect all different colors may be massed in one planting. There is a wide range of colors in the modern daylily hybrids. There are all shades of pink, melon, yellow, orange, reds, purples and some that come close to being blue or white.

Daylilies will tolerate most any kind of soil condition. They will grow in heavy clay or coarse sand. They will tolerate bright sun or heavy shade. They will compete with shrub and tree roots. They can actually hold their own with weeds.

To prepare a bed for daylilies on a newly graded lot add organic matter, peatmoss, manure or compost. Add liberal amounts. At the same time add a 10-10-10 fertilizer (two pounds to 100 square feet.) Work well into the top six inches of soil.

DAYLILIES may be planted anytime from April to mid-September. The preferred time is in May and in late August after flowering. Plant in single or double divisions. Division is the common method of propagation.

Watering during dry weather before and during flowering will enhance the beauty of the blossoms and the season will be prolonged.

Other than thrips, daylilies have no major insect or disease problems. Thrips will cause the flowers to shrivel. They feed on the buds. Few or no flowers will develop if there is a heavy infestation. The recommended control is to spray with Malathion.

There are eight main points to consider in selecting varieties for the garden: 1. The bloom should be of heavy substance and of smooth texture. Flower should be sun and wind resistant. 2. The plant should produce a large number of well shaped

Usually they start in the tender top shoots of the evergreens. The remedy is to spray with arsenate of lead, using 2½ level tablespoons of this material to the gallon of water.

The worm that formed the cocoon last year is transformed into a moth that leaves the cocoon in the early spring. It flies around and lays eggs that hatch out in late June as worms that start eating the evergreens.

Arsenate of lead is a stomach poison that kills the young bagworms after they eat the poison covered foliage. Yew evergreens seem to be immune to bagworm damage.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Today is Thursday, July 21, the 202nd day of 1966. There are 163 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1861, the first battle of Bull Run was fought. On this date:

In 1779, George Washington established his headquarters at West Point.

In 1796, the Scottish poet, Robert Burns, died in poverty at the age of 37.

In 1941, the United States began a nationwide drive to collect scrap aluminum.

In 1942, Adm. William Leahy was appointed chief of staff to President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

In 1945, rumors were circulating that Nuernberg would be the scene of planned war crimes trials.

Ten years ago — An earthquake in Anjar, India, killed 117 persons and injured 400 others.

Five years ago — The United Nations Security Council called for an immediate ceasefire between Tunisian and French troops near Bizerte in Tunisia.

One year ago — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara completed his sixth fact-finding mission to Viet Nam.

All Amateur Growers Are Eligible To Exhibit at County Fair Show

The Pickaway County Fair Flower Show will be held in the room under the Fairgrounds Grandstand again this year.

There will be three different flower shows on different days. This allows visitors to see fresh displays.

Mrs. Charles Fleming, show chairman, has indicated that prize money for artistic arrangements will be increased this year.

Mrs. Fleming emphasized that the flower show is a countywide event and is in no way connected with garden clubs. She hopes all amateur growers will exhibit. All judging will be oral.

THE SCHEDULE is an intriguing one for the first day. It is "Farmer in the Dell". This first exhibit will be staged and judged Aug. 2.

On Aug. 3 the junior flower show will be held. It will indicate both artistic and horticultural divisions. Theme of the junior show is "A Happy Day at the Fair."

The third and last flower show will be on Aug. 4. The title of this exhibit will be "Our Heritage".

Farmer in the Dell

1. Up at Dawn — own interpretation, painted material permitted.

2. Work Day — an arrangement using a tool or part of an implement.

3. Both Sides of the Fence — an arrangement of weeds and flowers in any container.

4. In Green Pastures — an all foliage arrangement, no dried material.

5. To Market To Market — an arrangement using either fruits or vegetables or both, flowers optional.

6. County Fair — an arrangement in a natural container.

7. What Has Happened to Grandma's Bouquet — an abstract, painted material permitted, a card with your interpretation must accompany this arrangement.

8. The Old Mill Stream — an arrangement using water as part of the design.

9. Barn Dance — an arrangement expressing rhythm.

10. Church in the Dell — an arrangement expressing an inspirational feeling.

Classes in the houseplants section will be African violets, begonias, vines, succulents and terrariums (plants in glass container).

Specimen flowers are to be exhibited for quality only. Classes are:

1. Zinnia, large flowered, 3 individual blooms; 2. Zinnia, fantasy, 3 individual blooms; 3. Marigold, African, 3 individual blooms; 4. Snapdragons, any variety, any color, 3 stems; 5. Gladiolus, large type, ruffled, any color, one spike; 6. Gladiolus, large type, plain any color, one spike; 7. Celosia, feathery type, one stem; 8. Dahlia, pompon, ny color, 3 individual blooms; 9. Asters, double, any color, 3 individual blooms; 10. Roses, Floribundas, any color, 3 stems.

A Happy Day at the Fair

1. Cotton Candy — a mass arrangement

2. My Favorite Ride at the Fair — an arrangement expressing motion.

3. What I Saw on My Way to the Fair — an arrangement using roadside material.

4. Grandmother at the Fair — an arrangement in an antique container.

Specimen classes for junior gardeners are: 1. Zinnias, large flowered, any color, 3 individual blooms; 2. Zinnias, small flowered, any color, 3 individual blooms; 3. Marigolds, African, 3 individual blooms; 4. Marigolds, French, 5 individual blooms.

Our Heritage

1. Mound Builders — arranger's choice, painted material permitted.

2. Logan Elm — an arrangement using native wood and foliage, fresh or dried material.

3. Chief Cornstalk — an arrangement using corn only, in any form.

4. Floyd Bartley — an arrangement honoring Pickaway County's Naturalist, arranger's choice, no painted material.

5. Birds in Flight — Honoring Dr. Howard Jones, an arrangement expressing motion.

6. Little Red Schoolhouse — an arrangement featuring red flowers.

7. Early Industry — an abstract, painted material permitted.

8. The Old Canal — an arrangement using water as part of the design.

9. Yesterday's Treasures — an arrangement in an antique container.

10. Our Churches — a mass arrangement.

Specimen classes are: 1. Zinnias, small pompon, 3 individual blooms; 2. Marigolds, French 5 individual blooms; 3. Gladiolus, miniature, any color, 3 spikes; 4. Cosmos, any color, 3 individual blooms; 5. Roses, tea, any color, 3 individual blooms; 6. Roses, grandiflora, any color, 3 stems; 7. Calladendula, any color, 3 individual blooms; 8. Celosia, crested type, any color, one stem. 9. Dahlia, large type (8 inches or over) any color, 1 bloom; 10. Asters, single, any color, 3 individual blooms.

Houseplants classes are: 1. Ferns; 2. Variegated foliage; 3. Tropical plants; 4. Best plant any other variety (plants exhibited in Tuesday's show may not be entered in this class); 5. Dish gardens (growing plants in a shallow container).

Rules, regulations, prizes to be awarded and other essential information is contained in the 1966 County Fair premium book starting on page 61. All exhibitors are urged to read the directions carefully.

Garden Gossip

Seldom has Circleville had so distinguished a guest as Carlton B. Lees, director of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society and editor-in-chief of the society's popular publication "Horticulture Magazine."

When Lees was horticulturist at Kingwood Center at Mansfield he conducted a course in budget landscaping annually. His excellent book on landscaping should be in the library of every new homeowner. The publication is entitled "Budget Landscaping".

Lees proved to be a delightful person and kept his audience chuckling. He was also an inspirational speaker and certainly an informative one. He stepped on a few toes possibly. He urged gardeners to be sure of their basic design before they started in on the petunias, or ruffles as he called them.

Mr. Lees would surely have regarded my cemetery urn and tractor tire as un-basic. "Get that design right before you start the decorations," he told us.

Pickaway County Garden Club members felt especially grateful to Lees when they heard about his interrupted plane flight from Boston. He had to stand in line for 2½ hours just to get re-routed. It was mechanical trouble that delayed the speaker to start with but he strike added to the complications.

Carlton Lees said that back east (he now works in Boston) there is not the expanse of space which Ohio farmers have. This he misses. And this he enjoyed in his drive from Columbus.

The Darrel Hatfields are moving out to a new house on Trimmer road. The entire spring has been an outdoor moving time for them. After all, Handy Hatfield's 1,500 day lily seedlings had to be moved with their labels. What a chore! And all the named varieties went along.

According to Handy this is the third move for the Hatfields in 10 years. And each time there has been a lovely garden at the new house.

Harford Renick, veteran flower gardener who grows hundreds of annuals each year for his garden, says that this has been an evil year for him. The seeds did not come up. He stoutly maintains that seeds will come up in a hurry and in great numbers if they are going to do any good for him. When the plants are slow coming he is not optimistic about the crop.

This year he had to replant several times. We told him that he was having the luck most people had every year. But this gardener is used to having seeds behave.

The Renick garden was not as full of color this year as it has been in previous seasons. But it is a delightful floral carpet anyway. Things are not as far along as usual, but are sure, but the plants give full promise of blooming later.

One delightful plant not seen around here was Southern Star or oxypetalum. It is a true blue with a long period of blossom. Flowers are single and grown on graceful branches.

Miss Dehl Renick, Mr. Renick's sister, gave us some of maroon colored basil for salad. It is a most ornamental plant, and a tasty herb as well, she says.

The Renicks have 15 kittens which have frolicked in flower beds and containers of plants and made considerable trouble flower-wise. Harford and Dehl say that they think the

Flower Show To Be Feature At Homecoming in Derby

The Derby Homecoming scheduled for July 29 and 30, will include a flower show. This exhibit, now in its 12th year, will be held at the Derby Methodist Church.

Theme of the show is "It's for the Birds". It will include an artistic division, a horticultural division and a division for juniors (specimens only). There will be cash awards.

Rules are: 1. Entries open to all amateur gardeners. 2. Arrangements must be the work of the exhibitor. Specimens must be grown by the exhibitor. Only one entry for each exhibitor in any one class from any one garden. 3. Exhibits limited to one entry for each exhibitor in any one class. 4. Entries must be made between 2 and 4 p. m. July 29. Judging will be at 4 p. m. 5. The committee is not responsible for any loss. 6. Foreign foliage and accessories permitted in all classes. 7. No greenhouse material is to be used. 8. No plastic liners or foliage to be used. 9. Containers must be removed between 8 and 9 p. m. July 30. 10. Judging will be open to exhibitors only. 11. Decision of judges will be final.

CLASS I — Open to winners of 10 or more blue ribbons; 1. "Goonie Bird" — (abstract) your own interpretation; 2. "Bird of Paradise", A study in texture; 3. "Swallow", modern line design expressing motion.

CLASS II — open to all who have won less than 10 blue ribbons at public flower shows; 4. "Pheasant", an arrangement using fruit and vegetables with flowers; 5. "Cardinal", an arrangement using red flowers in a red container; 6. "Macaw", mass arrangement; 7. "Woodpecker" an arrangement using weathered wood or driftwood with flowers; 8. "Flamingo" an arrangement featuring roses.

CLASS III — open to those who have never won a blue ribbon in a public flower show; 9. "Warbler", an arrangement in a bird container or incorporating bird or birds; 10. "Humming Bird", a miniature not to exceed 8 inches high; 11. "Stork", in a vertical manner.

SPECIMENS

1. Tea Rose, any color; 2. Peace Rose; 3. Floribunda, any color, one stem; 4. Gladiolus, white, with or without marking, one spike; 5. Gladiolus, any other color, one spike; 6. Zinnia, giant, one bloom; 7. Zinnia, fantasy, one bloom; 8. Zinnia, small, one variety, any color, three blooms; 9. Marigold, large, one bloom; 10. Marigold, French, small, three blooms.

JUNIOR DIVISION

SPECIMENS

11. Zinnia, giant, one bloom; 12. Marigold, French, small, three blooms.

HYBRIDIZER — Handy Hatfield examines some of his finer named varieties of hemerocallis. Hatfield will be a junior in the College of Horticulture at Ohio State University next year. He has been hybridizing daylilies for four years now. In his bed of seedlings there are 1,500 young plants, all carefully labeled as to parentage. Hatfield, who visits daylily gardens far and wide, believes some of his own seedling hybrids show considerable promise and he may in time develop one that can be named, registered with the American Hemerocallis Society and eventually put on the market.

Emilie Caldwell, 7, has a treehouse. And behind the treehouse is a little cemetery for her animal friends. Buried here are two frogs and the grave with the big cross is a bird's. Emilie told me that bird injured itself by flying against the window. In spite of her efforts the bird only lived one day.

Mrs. Bill Reed, 729 Clinton St., said her snake plant, now 8-years-old, has a bloom spike which is most fragrant. The plant has never blossomed before. These plants do not bloom very frequently. Some people have them for years and never see a flower.

Mrs. Emmitt Barnhart is making major changes in her garden. She lives on Northridge Road. Mrs. Barnhart has decided to segregate her plants. All the iris will go in one big bed and all the tulips in another. She thinks this will make for easier maintenance.

This is the way Mrs. Nelson Bowers gardens. I do not know that it is easier, but I do know that the Nelson Bowers garden is always in perfect order.

Lloyd Fisher, N. Pickaway, has a planting of standing cypress or gilia. He also has a beautiful deep purple clematis vine. His hibiscus will soon be in bloom.

The Kenneth Hannans, next door to Fishers, decided they wanted red azaleas against their foundation. The azaleas are thriving. They were given dosage of azalea food recently and Mary Virginia Hannan says that next March they will be fed again. This does not sound like much of a chore.

The Vernon Hawks lawn was at its best when I was visiting on N. Pickaway St. last week. Smooth, velvety and weedless, this lawn is such a fine one no matter the season.

North Pickaway seems to be a center for the garden aristocracy of the city. With my careless ways, I am glad I'm not in that neighborhood. My weeds might be catching.

Mrs. Gladys Lytle Elsea is harvesting beautiful glads now. And it was so short a time ago I stopped to chat and she was just planting them. She lives on N. Pickaway.

Mrs. John Mast gave me some words of encouragement July 12. I told her that I had planted marigolds and zinnias the morning of that day. Instead of berating me for my slow-poke ways she said, "You'll have flowers for the Pumpkin Show!" Mrs. Mast knows a great deal about flowers.

Gunner Musselman, Collins Court, is taming some squirrels. They won't eat out of his hand as yet but they are getting pretty friendly.

Mrs. Miller Dunkel and her son, Brian, E. Main St., have found that squirrels can really get too friendly. They come in on her back porch and peek into the paper bags she has there to see if she has goodies for them. This is carrying brotherhood too far.

Ohioans Bilked of $300 Million Yearly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio consumers are bilked out of $300 million a year.

Schemes ranging from home improvements to job training are used to defraud Ohioans. But a state agency stands ready to help consumers who feel they are being cheated or to put out of business any phony enterprises they detect.

The Consumer Frauds and Crimes Section under Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe was created specifically to deal with the problems of companies which might milk the gullible of funds. It is this section which estimates such schemes cost $300 million a year.

Some of the schemes this office investigates offer lucrative lure for their victims. George Mingle, former Highway Patrol superintendent who heads the fraud investigators, cited a case of advertisements offering training for a job paying $3 an hour.

Hopeful applicants were told that training to drive a truck would cost $695 but that the registration fee was only $195. The balance could be paid from earnings on jobs awaiting those who completed 40 hours of study and 80 hours of driving instruction, it was explained.

"We haven't found anyone who completed the training course and got a job," said Mingle.

He said representatives of the out-of-state schools operated in Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati areas until broken up. He stressed that they had no connection with driver education schools licensed by the state.

Truck driver applicants discovered too late, Mingle said, that they had signed $500 notes for the balance of the course, that so-called training schools were in other states and that they would have to pay their own expenses to attend.

Other schemes investigated by the section included widespread sale of questionable paint bearing fake labels of reputable manufacturers, offers to get loans for small businessmen turned down by banks and installation of aluminum siding under apparent FHA home improvement loans that, instead, were cognovit notes for collection on overpriced contracts.

Working under Mingle are investigators John L. Kleunans and Howard Griffin and legal aide Keith Sommer.

During the 1963 legislative session, which refused to enact a compulsory motor vehicle inspection law, a Wilmington trailer camp occupant with a battery of telephones offered for a $25 fee to have garages designated as official inspection stations. Similar operations were conducted in Portsmouth and Tiffin.

Even lumber dealers and other businessmen were among victims of the paint sales racket, Saxbe said.

One victim who complained to salesmen that the paint was worthless got a cheerful letter in reply. He was told the paint must have been part of a bad batch. The salesmen offered to bring legal action against the well known company if the victim would send enough money to pay costs of a suit.

"They were setting him up for another caper," Saxbe explained. "When they get their pigeon, they want to take him for all he's got."

The aluminum siding applications complained of were printed to appear like FHA forms. But under a perforated line near the bottom was this wording: "Note for use in Illinois, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin."

The form under the inscription was an actual cognovit note obligating the signer for payment. When detached, there was nothing to show how it was obtained, Mingle said.

Prosecution often is difficult because victims refuse to sign complaints or do so only after con men have moved on, he explained.

Saxbe said his Consumer Frauds and Crimes Section stands ready to assist Ohioans who believe they are being gyped. Most complaints come from areas outside cities where officials and organizations are on the lookout for such frauds.

Files in Saxbe's office contain most of the known operating methods and the names of men and firms with a record for using them, he added.

In one instance a 70-year-old woman signed up for 12 years of dancing lessons, he said.

The section serves as a clearing house to aid victims and help state and local agencies combat fraudulent practices in advertising sales and related fields.

A bulletin service is maintained to get gyp scheme information promptly to sheriffs, city solicitors, police officers, postal inspectors, chambers of commerce and better business bureaus.

The most recent bulletin this month dealt with misuse of credit cards and the elements necessary to obtain conviction of violators.

In a final word of warning, Saxbe urged those solicited to "read all of the fine print."

"They give it to you at the top and take it away at the bottom but people just don't read all the way down," he said.

State plans call for 20,000 acres of park, including a 2,973-acre lake. The state now owns 16,970 acres of Salt Fork land, as compared to 13,849 acres at Grand Lake St. Marys, the largest existing state park area.

The Natural Resources Department said the park is designed for "total public recreation." When completed by no later than 1971, it will have a lodge, and up to 60 sleeping cabins and 60 housekeeping cabins.

Construction of the $1.7 million dam will begin immediately after groundbreaking ceremonies. Contractor C. M. Luburgh of Zanesville is expected to complete the dam by the end of 1967.

Death of Actress Revives Talk of 1930 Mystery

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The death this month of actress Anne Nagel revived memories of a 30-year-old mystery: Why did Ross Alexander kill himself?

Back in the 1930s, Ross Alexander was considered one of the screen's most promising young leading men. The tall, darkly handsome actor displayed a light-comedy touch in such films as "Brother Rat" and the all-star "Midsummer Night's Dream." In looks and manner he resembled another new star, Cary Grant.

On the day after New Year's, Alexander, 29, seemed in good spirits. He and his wife, Anne Nagel, whom he had married four months before, dismantled the Christmas tree in their Encino home and discussed their plans for the coming year. They decided they would take a trip together.

That afternoon, Alexander went to the barn behind their ranch home and shot himself in the head.

Miss Nagel testified at the coroner's inquest that her husband seemed happier on that fatal day than he had been for weeks. He was an expert shot and was accustomed to handling firearms, she added.

He left no notes, although his wife reported he had been writing poetry, "he crumpled the paper up and threw it on the fire," she said.

The coroner's jury decided Alexander had shot himself with suicidal intent.

The actor's death followed a year after the suicide of his first wife, stage actress Aleta Friele. On Dec. 7, 1935, Alexander had found her body in the backyard of their Hollywood home. She had been shot in the temple by a 22-caliber rifle.

Miss Friele had been disappointed in her film career; despite several screen tests she won no contracts. Meanwhile her husband's career flourished. For weeks she had been threatening to return to her eastern home.

Alexander told a coroner's jury of a quarrel one night when he finally replied to her threats: "For God's sake, go home."

"She jumped off the bed, ran out of the room and slammed the door," said the actor. "I still sat on the bed. It seemed it was just a few seconds later when I heard a shot."

Alexander was morose on the anniversary of his first wife's death. He sat in the bar of his Encino home with a loaded pistol. Only the persuasion of his father induced him to relinquish the gun. Less than a month later, the actor used it to kill himself.

The Bryan area was chosen, the Plain Dealer said, because of a new stretch of welded track there and because a secluded area is available.

Emilie Caldwell, 7, has a treehouse. And behind the treehouse is a little cemetery for her animal friends. Buried here are two frogs and the grave with the big cross is a bird's. Emilie told me that bird injured itself by flying the bird injured itself by flying against the window. In spite of her efforts the bird only lived one day.

Mrs. Bill Reed, 729 Clinton St., said her snake plant, now 8-years-old, has a bloom spike which is most fragrant. The plant has never blossomed before. These plants do not bloom very frequently. Some people have them for years and never see a flower.

Mrs. Emmitt Barnhart is making major changes in her garden. She lives on Northridge Road. Mrs. Barnhart has decided to segregate her plants. All the iris will go in one big bed and all the tulips in another. She thinks this will make for easier maintenance.

This is the way Mrs. Nelson Bowers gardens. I do not know that it is easier, but I do know that the Nelson Bowers garden is always in perfect order.

Lloyd Fisher, N. Pickaway, has a planting of standing cypress or gilia. He also has a beautiful deep purple clematis vine. His hibiscus will soon be in bloom.

The Kenneth Hannans, next door to Fishers, decided they wanted red azaleas against their foundation. The azaleas are thriving. They were given dosage of azalea food recently and Mary Virginia Hannan says that next March they will be fed again. This does not sound like much of a chore.

The Vernon Hawks lawn was at its best when I was visiting on N. Pickaway St. last week. Smooth, velvety and weedless, this lawn is such a fine one no matter the season.

North Pickaway seems to be a center for the garden aristocracy of the city. With my careless ways, I am glad I'm not in that neighborhood. My weeds might be catching.

Mrs. Gladys Lytle Elsea is harvesting beautiful glads now. And it was so short a time ago I stopped to chat and she was just planting them. She lives on N. Pickaway.

Mrs. John Mast gave me some words of encouragement July 12. I told her that I had planted marigolds and zinnias the morning of that day. Instead of berating me for my slow-poke ways she said, "You'll have flowers for the Pumpkin Show!" Mrs. Mast knows a great deal about flowers.

Gunner Musselman, Collins Court, is taming some squirrels. They won't eat out of his hand as yet but they are getting pretty friendly.

Mrs. Miller Dunkel and her son, Brian, E. Main St., have found that squirrels can really get too friendly. They come in on her back porch and peek in to the paper bags she has there to see if she has goodies for them. This is carrying brotherhood too far.

Ohioans Bilked of $300 Million Yearly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio consumers are bilked out of $300 million a year.

Schemes ranging from home improvements to job training are used to defraud Ohioans. But a state agency stands ready to help consumers who feel they are being cheated or to put out of business any phony enterprises they detect.

The Consumer Frauds and Crimes Section under Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe was created specifically to deal with the problems of companies which might milk the gullible of funds. It is this section which estimates such schemes cost $300 million a year.

Some of the schemes this office investigates offer lucrative lure for their victims. George Mingle, former Highway Patrol superintendent who heads the fraud investigators, cited a case of advertisements offering training for a job paying $3 an hour.

Hopeful applicants were told that training to drive a truck would cost $695 but that the registration fee was only $195. The balance could be paid from earnings on jobs awaiting those who completed 40 hours of study and 80 hours of driving instruction, he explained.

"We haven't found anyone who completed the training course and got a job," said Mingle.

He said representatives of the out-of-state schools operated in Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati areas until broken up. He stressed that they had no connection with driver education schools licensed by the state.

Truck driver applicants discovered too late, Mingle said, that they had signed $500 notes for the balance of the course, that so-called training schools were in other states and that they would have to pay their own expenses to attend.

Other schemes investigated by the section included widespread sale of questionable paint bearing fake labels of reputable manufacturers, offers to get

Oil Station Renters Rap Sohio Boost

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Some independent Standard Oil of Ohio gasoline service stations in the Dayton area laid plans Wednesday to close down Sunday in protest against rent increases announced by the company.

It appeared that some other major brand dealers also will close for the day in sympathy with their fellow Sohio dealers. It was indicated Tuesday night at a meeting of the Southwestern Ohio Gasoline Dealers Association.

H. J. Fleece, association secretary, said 68 dealers from Dayton, Middletown, Springfield, Greenville and other towns and cities in the area approved a resolution to close their stations Sunday in a protest move.

The association said Sohio had increased the per gallon cost from 1.4 and 1.5 cents a gallon to 1.5 and 1.75 cents a gallon, which the independents pay as rent for their stations.

Fleece said many of the dealers have investments of $10,000 have the right to protest. He said increases in rents will range from what one dealer reported as $700 to what another said would be $2,586 a year. The latter dealer reported he was already paying $8,478 a year.

The SAVINGS Bank AND AUTO BANK Member FDIC

loans for small businessmen turned down by banks and installation of aluminum siding under apparent FHA home improvement loans that, instead, were cognovit notes for collection on overpriced contracts.

Working under Mingle are investigators John L. Kleunans and Howard Griffin and legal aide Keith Sommer.

During the 1963 legislative session, which refused to enact a compulsory motor vehicle inspection law, a Wilmington trailer camp occupant with a battery of telephones offered for a $25 fee to have garages designated as official inspection stations. Similar operations were conducted in Portsmouth and Tiffin.

Even lumber dealers and other businessmen were among victims of the paint sales racket, Saxbe said.

One victim who complained to salesmen that the paint was worthless got a cheerful letter in reply. He was told the paint must have been part of a bad batch. The salesmen offered to bring legal action against the well known company if the victim would send enough money to pay costs of a suit.

"They were setting him up for another caper," Saxbe explained. "When they get their pigeons, they want to take him for all he's got."

The aluminum siding applications complained of were printed to appear like FHA forms. But under a perforated line near the bottom was this wording: "Note for use in Illinois, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin."

The form under the inscription was an actual cognovit note obligating the signer for payment. When detached, there was nothing to show how it was obtained, Mingle said.

Prosecution often is difficult because victims refuse to sign complaints or do so only after men have moved on, he explained.

Saxbe said his Consumer Frauds and Crimes Section stands ready to assist Ohioans who believe they are being ripped. Most complaints come from areas outside cities where officials and organizations are on the lookout for such frauds.

Files in Saxbe's office contain most of the known operating methods and the names of men and firms with a record for using them, he added.

In one instance a 70-year-old woman signed up for 12 years of dancing lessons, he said. The section serves as a clearing house to aid victims and help state and local agencies combat fraudulent practices in advertising sales and related fields.

A bulletin service is maintained to get gyp scheme information promptly to sheriffs, city solicitors, police officers, postal inspectors, chambers of commerce and better business bureaus.

The most recent bulletin this month dealt with misuse of credit cards and the elements necessary to obtain conviction of violators.

In a final word of warning, Saxbe urged those solicited to "read all of the fine print."

"They give it to you at the top and take it away at the bottom but people just don't read all the way down," he said.

Salt Fork Dam Slated For Start

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State officials will break ground for the long-delayed Salt Fork Dam near Cambridge Friday, clearing the way for construction of Ohio's newest and largest state park.

Planning for the $7.5 million Salt Fork State Park in Guernsey County began in 1955, but construction was repeatedly delayed by lack of funds and difficulty in acquiring land, state officials said.

State plans call for 20,000 acres of park, including a 2,973-acre lake. The state now owns 16,970 acres of Salt Fork land, as compared to 13,849 acres at Grand Lake St. Marys, the largest existing state park area.

The Natural Resources Department said the park is designed for "total public recreation." When completed by no later than 1971, it will have a lodge, and up to 60 sleeping cabins and 60 housekeeping cabins.

Construction of the $1.7 million dam will begin immediately after groundbreaking ceremonies. Contractor C. M. Luburgh of Zanesville is expected to complete the dam by the end of 1967.

Death of Actress Revives Talk of 1930 Mystery

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The death this month of actress Anne Nagel revived memories of a 30-year-old mystery: Why did Ross Alexander kill himself?

Back in the 1930s, Ross Alexander was considered one of the screen's most promising young leading men. The tall, darkly handsome actor displayed a light-comedy touch in such films as "Brother Rat" and the all-star "Midsummer Night's Dream." In looks and manner he resembled another new star, Cary Grant.

On the day after New Year's, Alexander, 29, seemed in good spirits. He and his wife, Anne Nagel, whom he had married four months before, dismantled the Christmas tree in their Encino home and discussed their plans for the coming year. They decided they would take a trip together.

That afternoon, Alexander went to the barn behind their ranch home and shot himself in the head.

Miss Nagel testified at the coroner's inquest that her husband seemed happier on that fatal day than he had been for weeks. He was an expert shot and was accustomed to handling firearms, she added.

He left no notes, although his wife reported he had been writing poetry, "he crumpled the paper up and threw it on the fire," she said.

The coroner's jury decided Alexander had shot himself with suicidal intent.

The actor's death followed a year after the suicide of his first wife, stage actress Aleka Friele. On Dec. 7, 1935, Alexander had found her body in the backyard of their Hollywood home. She had been shot in the temple by a 22-caliber rifle.

Miss Friele had been disappointed in her film career; despite several screen tests she won no contracts. Meanwhile her husband's career flourished. For weeks she had been threatening to return to her eastern home.

Alexander told a coroner's jury of a quarrel one night when he finally replied to her threats: "For God's sake, go home."

"She jumped off the bed, ran out of the room and slammed the door," said the actor. "I still sat on the bed. It seemed it was just a few seconds later when I heard a shot."

Alexander was morose on the anniversary of his first wife's death. He sat in the bar of his Encino home with a loaded pistol. Only the persuasion of his father induced him to relinquish the gun. Less than a month later, the actor used it to kill himself.

Red Viet Air Force Said 'No Threat'

WASHINGTON (AP)—American officials said U.S. planes probably will not hit the three jet air bases near Hanoi unless the North Vietnamese air force becomes more of a threat.

A Defense Department spokesman said the bases are a latent threat.

But he added: "Until North Viet Nam puts up a substantial challenge to our air operations, the fields probably will remain a lower priority target."

In May, after a rash of dogfights between U.S. and Communist planes, U.S. officials implied that the air strips would be attacked if more American planes were shot down.

Since then, the Pentagon said, four U.S. jets have been shot down in dogfights with Communist planes. Saigon officials list five U.S. planes lost in aerial combat. But officials apparently do not regard this as ample justification to take out North Vietnamese bases at Gia Lam, Phuc Yen and Kep.

In all, four U.S. jets have been shot down in dogfights with the Communists beginning in 1965.

The Defense Department says the North Vietnamese, on the other hand, have lost 17 of their Soviet-built MIGs, including three of the later, more maneuverable MIG21s.

The United States has lost about 290 planes of all types in the air and ground war in Viet Nam, the Pentagon reports.

Defense officials say Hanoi has been losing planes faster than they are being replaced. Either the Soviet Union or Communist China, or both, have been doing the providing.

"It is our best estimate that they probably come primarily from the Soviet Union," Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus R. Vance said last weekend.

Vance, content to describe the North Vietnamese air force as "relatively small," said the Hanoi regime has approximately 15 to 20 MIG21 supersonic aircraft, approximately 40 of the older MIG15s and 17s, and six of the old Soviet IL28 bombers.

These figures compare with about 11 MIG21s, 55 to 60 MIG15s and 17s, and six IL28s the Reds were believed to have had at the beginning of the year, Vance said.

From a strictly military standpoint, the U.S. Air Force would like to knock out the North Vietnamese bases.

Political considerations, however, enter the picture. President Johnson and his top advisers have moved cautiously in expanding bombing operations in the North for fear of drawing a military response from Red China.

So, as long as North Vietnamese pilots have little success in their occasional forays against American fliers, the bases appear likely to remain on the U.S. list of potential but not priority targets.

Sacrifices of Dogs Helps To Teach Medics

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP)—Under anesthesia, a dog is taken to a ballistics chamber and placed in a sling, 15 feet from a mounted 30-caliber rifle.

An instructor shoots the dog in the thigh.

The animal then is taken to an operating room where a U.S. Army Special Forces medic begins a three-hour operation on the wound.

After surgery, the medic must nurse the dog back to health. This normally takes several weeks.

Great Lakes Level Rising

Scientists Say Future in Doubt

OTTAWA, (AP)—The Great Lakes are rising this year, but the Canadian Hydrographic Service says it's anybody's guess how long the rise will continue.

The lakes now are close to their average levels and while annual cycles make seasonal predictions fairly accurate, it is impossible to predict more than a year in advance.

Even going that far is risky, says Gerry Dohler of the Hydrographic Service—"there are too many factors which can change the levels."

Basically, it is a matter of precipitation and evaporation. A year of unusually high precipitation could raise the level considerably if evaporation were normal. But hot, sunny weather and wind could increase evaporation to a point where there would be no increase.

Dohler keeps up-to-date records of tides and water levels from all Canadian ports and recording stations.

"In older days some people thought there was a cycle of highs and lows over a specific period of years," he said. "But we haven't been able to compute it. Recorded figures do not support this theory."

"The only cycle is an annual one. The lakes reach their high in early summer and their lows in the winter."

Even if there were a predictable cycle over a period of years, it would be nullified by human controls. Levels of Lakes Superior and Ontario are artificially maintained and this affects the entire system.

When fully recovered, the dog is returned to surgery where the medic amputates a leg—again while the animal is under anesthesia. The dog then is put to death. It has been the medic's "patient" for about three weeks.

The sacrifice of animals has one purpose—to save human lives in places like Viet Nam, says Lt. Col. Richard L. Cope, chief of the office of the surgeon branch of the John F. Kennedy Center for Special Warfare at Ft. Bragg.

The experiments on the dogs give the medic trainees an opportunity to treat wounds, observe the effects of shock and deal with other medical problems.

The training program is considered one of the toughest in the Army. It takes 40 weeks to complete, with training ranging from a basic aid course to a month of surgical instruction.

The medic, says Special Forces Capt. Barto D. Urbauer, head of the laboratory division, has five jobs.

He cares for his own soldiers, trains medical aid men of our allies, cares for any group his unit may be advising, identifies diseases and what causes them, and assists civic action programs to improve the environment of a particular area.

The dogs, say Special Forces officials, are obtained from county kennels around North Carolina and already have been destined for extermination.

They are wormed, dipped and fed heartily before the Army uses them.

"Obviously the wounding and cause they're under an anaesthetic," says Capt. Urbauer.

Weekly Food Review

NEW YORK (AP)—Chickens have turned lazy in the hot summer weather and are laying fewer eggs. The result: whole sale prices of a dozen eggs rose as much as seven cents in the past week.

The heat in much of the country continued to hit the housewife's pocketbook.

Wholesale food prices climbed again.

The sun shriveled snap beans in Maryland and Pennsylvania and peas in Wisconsin.

Cherry yield in the Great Lakes area is estimated at half of last year's crop, and higher prices are forecast for peaches, plums, and apples in all but Southwestern areas.

But that favorite American pastime, the great barbecue, goes on.

Broilers, beef cuts, and turkey

are featured in many supermarkets this week. Hamburger and steak lovers can find good buys in many areas.

Salads can still be made at reasonably low cost, with a heavy harvest of tomatoes in California offsetting adverse weather in the rest of the country. Lettuce, radishes, green peppers, and onions are moderately plentiful.

That scorching weather that plagues the bean grower is a blessing to the corn farmer. An estimated 59 per cent increase in this year's harvest will mean lower corn prices.

While milk-lovers pay more for their favorite beverage, black-coffee addicts have rarely had it so good. Coffee prices are down.

Other buys include potatoes, carrots, grapes, raisins, and pears.

Red Viet Air Force Said 'No Threat'

WASHINGTON (AP)—American officials said U.S. planes probably will not hit the three jet air bases near Hanoi unless the North Vietnamese air force becomes more of a threat.

A Defense Department spokesman said the bases are a latent threat.

But he added: "Until North Viet Nam puts up a substantial challenge to our air operations, the fields probably will remain a lower priority target."

In May, after a rash of dogfights between U.S. and Communist planes, U.S. officials implied that the air strips would be attacked if more American planes were shot down.

Since then, the Pentagon said, four U.S. jets have been shot down in dogfights with Communist planes. Saigon officials list five U.S. planes lost in aerial combat. But officials apparently do not regard this as ample justification to take out North Vietnamese bases at Gia Lam, Phuc Yen and Kep.

In all, four U.S. jets have been shot down in dogfights with the Communists beginning in 1965.

The Defense Department says the North Vietnamese, on the other hand, have lost 17 of their Soviet-built MIGs, including three of the later, more maneuverable MIG21s.

The United States has lost about 290 planes of all types in the air and ground war in Viet Nam, the Pentagon reports.

Defense officials say Hanoi has been losing planes faster than they are being replaced. Either the Soviet Union or Communist China, or both, have been doing the providing.

"It is our best estimate that they probably come primarily from the Soviet Union," Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus R. Vance said last weekend.

Vance, content to describe the North Vietnamese air force as "relatively small," said the Hanoi regime has approximately 15 to 20 MIG21 supersonic aircraft, approximately 40 of the older MIG15s and 17s, and six of the old Soviet IL28 bombers.

These figures compare with about 11 MIG21s, 55 to 60 MIG15s and 17s, and six IL28s the Reds were believed to have had at the beginning of the year, Vance said.

From a strictly military standpoint, the U.S. Air Force would like to knock out the North Vietnamese bases.

Political considerations, however, enter the picture. President Johnson and his top advisers have moved cautiously in expanding bombing operations in the North for fear of drawing a military response from Red China.

So, as long as North Vietnamese pilots have little success in their occasional forays against American fliers, the bases appear likely to remain on the U.S. list of potential but not priority targets.

Sacrifices of Dogs Helps To Teach Medics

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP)—Under anesthesia, a dog is taken to a ballistics chamber and placed in a sling, 15 feet from a mounted 30-caliber rifle.

An instructor shoots the dog in the thigh.

The animal then is taken to an operating room where a U.S. Army Special Forces medic begins a three-hour operation on the wound.

After surgery, the medic must nurse the dog back to health. This normally takes several weeks.

When fully recovered, the dog is returned to surgery where the medic simulates a dog again while the animal is under anesthesia. The dog then is put to death. It has been the medic's "patient" for about three weeks.

The sacrifice of animals has one purpose — to save human lives in places like Viet Nam, says Lt. Col. Nicholas J. Crisp, chief of the office of the surgeon branch of the John F. Kennedy Center for Special Warfare at Ft. Bragg.

The experiments on the dogs give the medic trainees an opportunity to treat wounds, observe the effects of shock and deal with other medical problems.

The training program is considered one of the toughest in the army. It takes 40 weeks to complete, with training ranging from a basic aid course to a month of surgical instruction.

The medic, says Special Forces Capt. Barto D. Urbauer, head of the laboratory division, has five jobs.

He cares for his own soldiers, trains medical aid men of our allies, cares for any group his unit may be advising. He identifies diseases and what causes them.

He also teaches the medic trainees an opportunity to treat wounds, observe the effects of shock and deal with other medical problems.

The dogs, say Special Forces officials, are obtained from county kennels around North Carolina and already have been destined for extermination.

They are wormed, dipped and fed heartily before the Army uses them.

Great Lakes Level Rising

Scientists Say Future in Doubt

OTTAWA, (AP)—The Great Lakes are rising this year, but the Canadian Hydrographic Service says it's anybody's guess how long the rise will continue.

The lakes now are close to their average levels and while annual cycles make seasonal predictions fairly accurate, it is impossible to predict more than a year in advance.

Even going that far is risky, says Gerry Dohler of the Hydrographic Service—"there are too many factors which can change the levels."

Basically, it is a matter of precipitation and evaporation. A year of unusually high precipitation could raise the level considerably if evaporation were normal. But hot, sunny weather and wind could increase evaporation to a point where there would be no increase.

Dohler keeps up-to-date records of tides and water levels from all Canadian ports and recording stations.

"In older days some people thought there was a cycle of highs and lows over a specific period of years," he said. "But we haven't been able to compute it. Recorded figures do not support this theory."

"The only cycle is an annual one. The lakes reach their high in early summer and their lows in the winter."

Even if there were a predictable cycle over a period of years, it would be nullified by human controls. Levels of Lakes Superior and Ontario are artificially maintained and this affects the entire system.

Weekly Food Review

NEW YORK (AP)—Checkouts have turned into the hot summer weather and are buying fewer eggs. The result: whole-sale prices of a dozen eggs rose as much as seven cents in the past week.

The heat in much of the country continued to hit the housewife's pocketbook.

Wholesale food prices climbed again.

The sun shriveled snap beans in Maryland and Pennsylvania and peas in Wisconsin.

Cherry yield in the Great Lakes area is estimated at half of last year's crop, and higher prices are forecast for peaches, plums, and apples in all but Southwestern areas.

But that favorite American pastime, the great barbecue, goes on.

Broilers, beef cuts, and turkey

are featured in many supermarkets this week. Hamburger and steak lovers can find good buys in many areas.

Salads can still be made at reasonably low cost, with a heavy harvest of tomatoes in California offsetting adverse weather in the rest of the country. Lettuce, radishes, green peppers, and onions are moderately plentiful.

That scorching weather that plagues the bean grower is a blessing to the corn farmer. An estimated 59 per cent increase in this year's harvest will mean lower corn prices.

While milk-lovers pay more for their favorite beverage, black-coffee addicts have rarely had it so good. Coffee prices are down.

Other buys include potatoes, carrots, grapes, raisins, and pears.

K of C Snares Loop Crown With 8th Straight Win

In the Mosquito League Wednesday The Knights of Columbus rolled to their eighth straight win and a league title with an 11-3 drubbing of Prairie Lanes. Mac's Goodyear tromped Archer Sporting Goods, 18-1.

The Knights have one more game left on the schedule. They battle Cooks Wednesday at the Atwater diamond. The win gives the loop crown to the K of C. Cook and Hill Implement, tied for second, are 6-2 with a single clash remaining.

The winners scored four in the first frame and two in the second. Prairie Lanes scored two on the third. In the fifth the Knights moved for five.

PHIL ROLL walked 10 and fanned 12 while allowing two hits on the Knights' mound.

G. Giffen went the distance for the Keggiers, issuing seven bases on balls and 11 hits while striking out eight.

Robert Rose cracked a homer for the winners. Mike Sparks had a pair of three baggers and Mike Diltz had a lone triple. Roll and Jim Francis doubled for the winners.

Joe Smith and Doug Spiers split mound chores for Mac's, throwing a no-hitter. Together they walked 12 and fanned 16.

Mark Hoffman went the distance for Archers, issuing seven bases on balls, striking out 10 and scattering 20 hits.

Smith tripled and doubled for the winners. Doug McGlone and Spiers doubled.

In a game played last week in the Mosquito League, Mike Diltz was the winning hurler for K of C instead of Mike Herron as listed in The Herald.

Alliance Native Eyes Browns Post

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — If the Cleveland Browns decide to carry two centers, rookie Fred Hoaglin, a native of Alliance, Ohio, could be the understudy of John Morrow in the coming National Football League season.

The 22-year-old Hoaglin, a 6-foot-4, 250 pounder who played for the University of Pittsburgh and was the Browns' sixth draft choice last November, could develop eventually into a replacement for Morrow, who is 33, and in his 10th NFL season.

"He's big enough, quick enough and hasn't backed away from anyone that's come at him," the offensive line coach, Fritz Heisler, said. "I like him."

Alou's Foot Leads Pirates To Victory

Hit Batsman Proves Downfall For Dodgers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Pittsburgh Pirates are like a salesman. Let them get a foot in the door, and you'll wind up buying their product.

The Pirates got good use out of a foot Wednesday night and promptly put their product on display for all to see. The Los Angeles Dodgers didn't care for any, but the Pirates were persuasive and wound up with an 8-5 victory.

The triumph, coupled with San Francisco's 3-2, 10-inning loss to New York, boosted the first-place Pirates one game ahead of the Giants in the National League pennant race.

The Pirates weren't having too much success with their selling tactics until they put the foot in the right place.

The foot belonged to Matty Alou and it, along with the rest of the league's leading hitter, stepped into the batter's box with two out in the seventh inning and the Pirates trailing 5-2.

Don Drysdale fired a pitch that was inside and low, very low. Alou tried to get away from the ball, and all but his foot was successful. The ball hit the foot, Alou went to first and the Dodgers went to pieces.

Five batters and two pitchers later, the Pirates had six more runs, and one of their most enjoyable sales of the season.

Gene Michael and Roberto Clemente singled for one run, and Jim Brewer replaced Drysdale. After a wild pitch and a walk to Manny Mota that loaded the bases, Brewer left and Phil Regan came on.

Jose Pagan got in enough of a sales talk to tie the game with a two-run single, and Donn Clendenon closed the sale with a three-run homer into the left center-field bleachers.

In other National League games, St. Louis defeated Atlanta 6-3, Cincinnati swept Chicago 5-4 and 5-1 and Philadelphia outslugged Houston 13-9.

In the American League, Baltimore outlasted Detroit 10-7, Chicago stopped Cleveland 6-3, California nipped Boston 1-0 in 10 innings after losing 6-1, Minnesota trimmed Washington 3-1 and New York blanked Kansas City 4-0.

Toledo Tightens IL Pennant Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The battle for the International League pennant tightened up considerably Wednesday night as the Toledo Mud Hens knocked off the league-leading Columbus Jets 5-3, the Toronto Maple Leafs whipped the Buffalo Bisons 5-0 and the Rochester Red Wings swept a double-header from the Syracuse Chiefs 5-1 and 11-3.

Toronto and Toledo now trail Columbus by just two games and Toledo is 2½ games out of first place.

In other action, Richmond bumped Jacksonville 8-6.

Teets' Homerun For Kochheiser Provides Win

Wertie Teets slammed a homerun in the bottom half of the eighth inning to give Kochheiser a 15-14 win Wednesday over the Savings Bank in Pony League action.

It was the eighth consecutive win for the Hardware team. The squad is now two games ahead of second place Third National Bank. The game was originally scheduled July 12 but was rained out.

Rod Kasler and Steven Thomas shared mound duties for the Hardware team. Billy Thomas went the entire eight innings for the Savings Bankers.

Kasler started and was relieved in the second inning by Steve Thomas when Savings Bank exploded for 12 runs. In the remaining six, Thomas held them to one run and three hits.

KASLER gave up three hits and walked six. Thomas walked two and fanned 12.

Billy Thomas was touched for 12 hits. He walked three and fanned seven.

The Hardwaremen fell 11 runs behind after the second inning. In the third, both teams were shut out and the score remained 13-2. But in the fourth Kochheiser started to come back.

The winners scored two in the fourth, two in the fifth and one in the sixth while the losers were scoring one run in the sixth. In the bottom half of the seventh inning they tied the score with seven runs. The Savings Bank was shutout in the eighth and Teets hit his homerun with one man on base.

Kasler tripled for the winners while Dean Fausnaugh, Dave Ogan, Steve Thomas, Dennis Kull all doubled.

For the Savings Bank, Harold Smith tripled and Dave Dresbach doubled.

The Savings Bank has won two games and lost seven for the season.

Chisox Hand Cleveland 6-3 Defeat

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians suffered the fifth loss in the last seven days to Chicago Wednesday as the White Sox, despite numerous errors, put down the Tribe 6-3.

It was the bats of Don Buford and Jerry Adair that beat the Indians despite the Chicago errors. Buford slammed a two-run homer, and Adair drove in two runs with a double.

A throwing error by Rocky Colavito gave the Sox their first run in the second inning. Ken Berry singled and made it to second when Colavito tried to nail him on an overrun at first. Then, after Adair lifted a fly to Colavito in right, Rocky threw wild toward third, and Berry dashed all the way home.

Adair drove in two runs with his double in the fourth and scored when Fred Whitfield muffed J. C. Martin's grounder. Buford's homer in the seventh made it 6-1.

The Indians, held hitless by Joel Torlen for five innings, scored once in the sixth and capitalized on two Chicago errors in the seventh for two more runs.

Buford was charged with a two-base error when Whitfield's grounder got past him. Tom McCraw got the next chance and let Chico Salmon's grounder get past, Whitfield going to third. Whitfield scored on Max Alvis' single, and Salmon went home on an infield out.

Barnes Hurls No-Hit Game For Butch '9'

Jewelers Cop 16-0 Win from Logan Elm In Babe Ruth Action

Marsh Barnes' no-hit, 16-0 shut-out against Logan Elm Wednesday moved L. M. Butch back into a tie for top spot in the Babe Ruth League.

The Jewelers and General Electric both have one loss and eight wins. Three games are left on the schedule and the loop has turned into a two horse race. Kiwanis is the closest team to the leaders, with three wins and five losses.

Barnes hurred a near perfect game with one walk and 14 strikeouts.

Bob Triplehorn and D. J. Humphrey split mound duties for Logan Elm. Together they walked seven, fanned five and were bombed for 17 hits.

Dale Byrd and Frank Carter homered for the winners. Barnes, Tom Wright and Nick Wickerham tripled. Wright, Mike Neal and Walter Jenkins tagged two sackers.

IOOF Upset By Ward's in Minor Loop

IOOF suffered its first loss of the year in a 13-12 upset by Wards Market and the Savings Bank dropped Blue Ribbon, 19-1, in two Little League minor clashes Wednesday.

The Odd Fellows still own the loop lead but their record of 10 straight wins was blemished. First National is second with an 8-3 record and the Dairymen are tied with Second National for third at 7-4.

Wards took the lead in the bottom of the first, but in the second IOOF moved for three. The Marketmen exploded for six and led until the top of the fourth when IOOF tallied four. The score then stood, 10-7. Wards powered six runs when they came to bat in the bottom of the fourth to take a permanent lead.

Doug Spangler went the distance for the winners, fanning 13 and issuing eight walks. He scattered six hits.

WHALEY, Kris Kline and Rock Davis worked for the Odd Fellows. Together then walked 10, fanned nine and scattered four hits.

Spangler went two for three for the winners. Hal Conrad scored three times.

For IOOF Brian Barthelmas tagged a pair of hits in two at bats.

Dave Ramey, Dan Googlein and Ken Certain worked on the mound to preserve the Savings Bank's win. They allowed 11 Blue Ribbon hits.

Jesse Jenkins and Scott Clifton split mound duties for Blue Ribbon.

Danny Ramey homered for the winning Bankers. Danny Crawford tripled and doubled. Randy Hott tripled and David Winner hit four doubles in four trips to the plate. Jerry Hicks and Kenny Certain also doubled.

For Blue Ribbon Chuck Cotton homered and Jenkins tripled.

Don Drysdale fired a pitch that was inside and low, very low. Alou tried to get away from the ball, and all but his foot was successful. The ball hit the foot, Alou went to first and the Dodgers went to pieces.

Five batters and two pitchers later, the Pirates had six more runs and one of their most enjoyable sales of the season.

Clemente and Roberto Clemente singled for one run, and Jim Brewer replaced Drysdale. After a wild pitch and a walk to Manny Mota that loaded the bases, Brewer left and Phil Regan came on.

Jose Pagan got in enough of a sales talk to tie the game with a two-run single, and Donn Clendenon closed the sale with a three-run homer into the left center field bleachers.

In other National League games, St. Louis defeated Atlanta 6-3, Cincinnati swept Chicago 5-4 and 5-1 and Philadelphia outslugged Houston 13-9.

In the American League, Baltimore outlasted Detroit 10-7, Chicago stopped Cleveland 6-3, California nipped Boston 1-0 in 10 innings after losing 6-1, Minnesota trimmed Washington 3-1 and New York blanked Kansas City 4-0.

Toledo Tightens IL Pennant Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The battle for the International League pennant tightened up considerably Wednesday night as the Toledo Mud Hens knocked off the league-leading Columbus Jets 5-3, the Toronto Maple Leafs whipped the Buffalo Bisons 5-0 and the Rochester Red Wings swept a double-header from the Syracuse Chiefs 5-1 and 11-3.

Toronto and Toledo now trail Columbus by just two games and Toledo is 2½ games out of first place.

In other action, Richmond bumped Jacksonville 8-6.

Teets' Homerun For Kochheiser Provides Win

Wertie Teets slammed a homerun in the bottom half of the eighth inning to give Kochheiser a 15-14 win Wednesday over the Savings Bank in Pony League action.

It was the eighth consecutive win for the Hardware team. The squad is now two games ahead of second place Third National Bank. The game was originally scheduled July 12 but was rained out.

Rod Kasler and Steven Thomas shared mound duties for the Hardware team. Billy Thomas went the entire eight innings for the Savings Bankers.

Kasler started and was relieved in the second inning by Steve Thomas when Savings Bank exploded for 12 runs. In the remaining six, Thomas held them to one run and three hits.

KASLER gave up three hits and walked six. Thomas walked two and fanned 12.

Billy Thomas was touched for 12 hits. He walked three and fanned seven.

The Hardwaremen fell 11 runs behind after the second inning. In the third, both teams were shut out and the score remained 13-2. But in the fourth Kochheiser started to come back.

The winners scored two in the fourth, two in the fifth and one in the sixth while the losers were scoring one run in the sixth. In the bottom half of the seventh inning they tied the score with seven runs. The Savings Bank was shutout in the eighth and Teets hit his homerun with one man on base.

Kasler tripled for the winners while Dean Fausnaugh, Dave Ogan, Steve Thomas, Dennis Kull all doubled.

For the Savings Bank, Harold Smith tripled and Dave Dresbach doubled.

The Savings Bank has won two games and lost seven for the season.

Chisox Hand Cleveland 6-3 Defeat

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians suffered the fifth loss in the last seven days to Chicago Wednesday as the White Sox, despite numerous errors, put down the Tribe 6-3.

It was the bats of Don Buford and Jerry Adair that beat the Indians despite the Chicago errors. Buford slammed a two-run homer, and Adair drove in two runs with a double.

A throwing error by Rocky Colavito gave the Sox their first run in the second inning. Ken Berry singled and made it to second when Colavito tried to nail him on an overrun at first. Then, after Adair lifted a fly to Colavito in right, Rocky threw wild toward third, and Berry dashed all the way home.

Adair drove in two runs with his double in the fourth and scored when Fred Whitfield muffed J. C. Martin's grounder. Buford's homer in the seventh made it 6-1.

The Indians, held hitless by Joel Torien for five innings, scored once in the sixth and capitalized on two Chicago errors in the seventh for two more runs.

Buford was charged with a two-base error when Whitfield's grounder got past him. Tom McCraw got the next chance and let Chico Salmon's grounder get past, Whitfield going to third. Whitfield scored on Max Alvis' single, and Salmon went home on an infield out.

GE Gals Top Du Pont Unit

General Electric downed Du Pont, 40-12, in a girls softball night game played at Ted Lewis Park Wednesday.

In winning the tilt, the GE gals scored four runs in the first inning, seven each in the next three times at bat, one in the fifth and seven in the sixth and seventh innings.

Sue McGuire led the winner's hitting attack, blasting two home runs and a triple during the game. Deena Strous poled a pair of roundtrip blows. Vicki Clifton hit a homerun and two triples. Brenda Turner had a homerun, Shirley Moody a homerun and a double, Sally Long 2 doubles, Eileen England, two doubles.

For the Du Pont team, Jody Steele hit a homerun and a triple. Joannie Thomas cracked two doubles. Sherry Gungarner, Pauline Cupp, Carol Spangler and Marsha Long all doubled.

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Success hasn't spoiled Jack Nicklaus, who will tee off today in the PGA's Golden Anniversary Tournament seeking his third major title of the year and the

Ryun Takes Aim On New Mark

800-Meter Record Could Be His 5th

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Jim Ryun, at 19 the owner of two world marks and a couple of American records, will be shooting for a fifth one in an international track and field meet this weekend.

Ryun, the Kansas freshman who added a world record 3:51.3 mile to his world 1:44.9 half-mile mark last weekend, will be going for the 800-meter record.

"I've got the half-mile mark and now I'd like to get the other," Ryun said on arrival here Monday from Berkeley, Calif., site of his world record mile.

There was considerable speculation the 6-foot-2 phenomenon would go for the world 1,500-meter mark in Los Angeles, but he quickly squelched it.

"I've run my last mile race this year," he said. The 1,500 meters is about 167 yards short of a mile. He set an American record of 3:36.1 en route to his mile mark last weekend and also holds the American record two miles, 8:25.2.

He erased Peter Snell's world record in the 880-yard run by two-tenths of a second a month ago at the U.S. Track Federation meet in Terre Haute, Ind. No one bothered to clock him at 800 meters, but under the conversion method generally used, he would have broken Snell's record by a tenth of a second.

He will compete officially in the 800-meter run in Los Angeles but another tape will be placed at 880 yards — about five yards longer than 800 meters. The 800-meter record is 1:44.3.

Meet director Glenn Davis has asked officials to have a set of watches and a tape at 880 yards in case Ryun reduces his mark for that distance.

ninth of his short, illustrious career. Success has given the 26-year-old Columbus, Ohio, clouter an opportunity to pace himself so that he might remain one of the world's premier golfers for years to come.

"No more than two tournaments in a row, if I can help it," said Nicklaus, who this year completed his grand slam when he captured the recent British Open.

A couple of years ago Sam Snead remarked that Nicklaus would burn himself out at the pace he was going. Nicklaus poo-pooed the remark at the time.

Now Jack is using a timetable which he claims will not only enable him to play better golf, but also to enjoy the game more.

"Nobody likes to do anything he doesn't enjoy," said Nicklaus, "and I can't enjoy playing golf week after week. The cut-down will not be drastic. Instead of 25 tournaments a year, I'll probably play 18, maybe 20."

"When it comes to the major tournaments, I want a week off before and a week off after."

"I've been asked if I've lost any of my incentive now that I have won all the major tournaments. The answer is no. I want to win 'em all again. And I'd also like to win them all in one year."

"Maybe I'd be going for all of them in one year this week," said the man who won his third Masters in addition to the British Open, but fell short in the U.S. Open, won by Billy Casper in a dramatic playoff with Arnold Palmer.

"I wasn't too far off in the Open," said Nicklaus. "One bad round knocked me out. You still can't afford that bad round and hope to win a major tournament."

Nicklaus, along with Palmer and Casper, is a heavy favorite in the 50th PGA. The 7,180-yard Firestone course with a par of 35-35-70 is tailored for the big hitters and the rough is so short that most of the golfers are not even considering it a factor.

Reds Grab Twin Win From Cubs

CHICAGO (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds tangled Wednesday with the only team they have been able to consistently beat and walked away with 5-4 and 5-1 doubleheader victories over the Chicago Cubs.

The Reds now have a 7-2 series edge over the last place Cubs. Four runs in the last inning gave the Reds their victory in the opening game. In the second Don Pavletich hit his ninth season homer to put Cincinnati ahead in the fourth.

The Cubs scored in the first inning of the opener on Adolfo Phillips' single, a stolen base and Billy Williams' sacrifice fly. This lead held up until the seventh when Art Shamsky reached base on an error, went to third on Tommy Helms' single and scored on Johnny Edwards' sacrifice bunt.

Things looked bad for starter Sammy Ellis in the eighth when the Cubs scored three more runs. Two of these crossed the plate on Ernie Banks' first pitch double—the 2,000th hit of the Chicago first baseman's career.

But the Reds came back in the ninth. Singles by Helms, Edwards and Leo Cardenas, plus a fielding error, made it 4-3. The next batter walked and Tommy Harper tripled in two more runs.

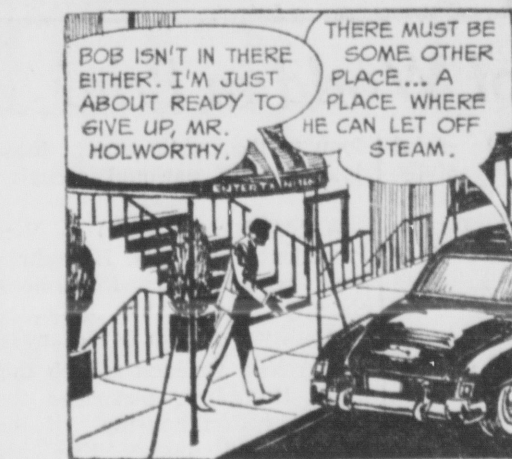

Both teams scored in the first inning of the nightcap but the Reds went ahead 2-1 on Pavletich's homer in the fourth.

Cleveland Negro Woman Is Dejected by Rioting

CLEVELAND (AP) — The young Negro woman put her head in her hands and leaned dejectedly against the counter of one of the many small, take-out barbecue shops in Hough.

"Oh!" she sighed, "when will it end? What is going through these kids' minds? Everybody's hurting because of what a few are doing."

A friend, the Negro waitress behind the barbecue counter murmured a few words of sympathy, and she slowly straightened up.

"Wednesday is usually my busiest day," she said, pointing past a double line of hemleted National Guard troops to her small wig and record shop directly across Hough Avenue.

"But I haven't had three people in there all day, I wish they'd just go away so we can make a living."

Hers was a common complaint from merchants after two days of street-corner violence left many of the Negro's neighborhood's stores burned or damaged.

Despite much larger crowds on the streets than usual for a week-day morning, many shops remained closed, their iron grills locked tight against vandals Wednesday.

On one five-block stretch of Hough Avenue, near the most heavily damaged area, 26 of 33 stores were either closed or burned out. Many of those closed had plywood panels hastily fastened where display windows had been.

Among those closed was the undamaged Pick - N - Pay, the area's largest supermarket, which had been protected around the clock by six uniformed guards since the rioting began. Area residents said most of the closed stores had been white-owned.

Those open included a Negro-owned record shop, a Negro barber, a pool hall, a bar, two Negro-run gasoline stations and a small Negro-run market.

The pool hall and the bar were doing a brisk business. But with the exception of the markets, other merchants throughout Hough reported poor sales.

"I wholesale records to other stores in town, mostly the Negro stores," said the record shop owner. "But now they're scared to come in here, they're buyin' their stuff downtown."

By midafternoon neither gasoline station was doing any business. Police had blocked Hough Avenue to all traffic.

The market had its problems too.

Being as how most stores are closed, we're doin' good," said the cashier at one. "But we weren't prepared for all this business. We've had to go out to get what we need. The deliverymen are scared to come in here. They wouldn't bring us any meat today."

Individuals from other parts of town weren't the only frightened ones. None of the Negro store owners was willing to tell his name to reporters.

"No, baby," said the woman in the barbecue. "I don't want no trouble. I heard a lot of noise last night and when I got up to look they were shining lights at my window. I'm thinking of goin' to a hotel tonight, getting out of here."

For white merchants, the situation was considerably worse. Many had been burned or looted and were considering giving up their businesses.

Gemini Crew

"Fantastic, John," a ground station communicator exclaimed.

"I don't believe it myself," Young replied.

Young steered to within a few inches of the target, then backed away a few feet as Collins emerged from the spacecraft on the end of a 50-foot lifeline.

Using a gas-powered jet gun, this talking, breathing human satellite flitted over to the Agena and removed a micrometeorite experiment and a pack containing a microfilm letter.

Gemini 10's fuel had been scarce since an excessive amount was used to catch and link up with the "live" Agena 10 on the first day of the mission, Monday.

Ground monitors watched their instruments closely as Young conducted his maneuvers around Agena 8 with Collins outside. When the fuel supply dropped to a near-danger point, Lunney told Young to stop formation flying and ordered Collins: "Get back in."

"We're not saving much fuel with Mike out there bumping me," Young reported, referring to movements on the tether that caused the spacecraft to move and required the use of fuel for stabilization.

Collins abandoned plans to evaluate his maneuvering ability on the end of the tether, and moved back to the cabin, standing in the seat for several minutes before closing the hatch.

The hatch was open about 40 minutes, 15 minutes less than intended.

While outside, Collins reported: "Everything outside is about like we predicted. Only it takes more time for body positioning. This is indeed a problem. I found that the lack of a handhold is a big impediment. I could hang on (to the Agena) but I couldn't get around to the other side where I wanted to."

The detection package he retrieved has been collecting micrometeorites since the Agena was left in space last March by the Gemini 8 astronauts.

The microfilm letter is a note from Manned Spacecraft Center officials and, in effect, says it was retrieved in space by Air Force Lt. Col. David R. Scott. Scott had the assignment on his Gemini 8 flight but was unable to carry it out because the journey ended with an emergency landing.

The ability to dock with a passive satellite like Agena 8 is especially important to planners of space rescue systems which may involve retrieval of a disabled manned or unmanned satellite. It would be important on man-to-the-moon flights — where two dockings are planned — if one vehicle lost its radar.

Mrs. Skelton, who is reported in satisfactory condition, was accidentally shot early Tuesday when she moved a 38-caliber pistol, part of a gun collection, and it went off, police said.

The accident happened in her suite at the Sands Hotel, where her husband is appearing.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Melvyn Douglas, 65, 1963 winner of an Oscar for a supporting film role, has been released from Cedars of Lebanon Hospital in Hollywood after surgery for removal of a tumor from a foot.

Gemini Crew

"Fantastic, John," a ground station communicator exclaimed.

"I don't believe it myself," Young replied.

Young steered to within a few inches of the target, then backed away a few feet as Collins emerged from the spacecraft on the end of a 50-foot lifeline.

Using a gas-powered jet gun, this talking, breathing human satellite flitted over to the Agena and removed a micrometeorite experiment and a pack containing a microfilm letter.

Gemini 10's fuel had been scarce since an excessive amount was used to catch and link up with the "live" Agena 10 on the first day of the mission, Monday.

Ground monitors watched their instruments closely as Young conducted his maneuvers around Agena 8 with Collins outside. When the fuel supply dropped to a near-danger point, Lunney told Young to stop formation flying and ordered Collins: "Get back in."

"We're not saving much fuel with Mike out there bumping me," Young reported, referring to movements on the tether that caused the spacecraft to move and required the use of fuel for stabilization.

Collins abandoned plans to evaluate his maneuvering ability on the end of the tether, and moved back to the cabin, standing in the seat for several minutes before closing the hatch.

The hatch was open about 40 minutes, 15 minutes less than intended.

While outside, Collins reported: "Everything outside is about like we predicted. Only it takes more time for body positioning. This is indeed a problem. I found that the lack of a handhold is a big impediment. I could hang on (to the Agena) but I couldn't get around to the other side where I wanted to."

The detection package he retrieved has been collecting micrometeorites since the Agena was left in space last March by the Gemini 8 astronauts.

The microfilm letter is a note from Manned Spacecraft Center officials and, in effect, says it was retrieved in space by Air Force Lt. Col. David R. Scott. Scott had the assignment on his Gemini 8 flight but was unable to carry it out because the journey ended with an emergency landing.

The ability to dock with a passive satellite like Agena 8 is especially important to planners of space rescue systems which may involve retrieval of a disabled manned or unmanned satellite. It would be important on man-to-the-moon flights — where two dockings are planned — if one vehicle lost its radar.
